briefly of the arrangements which have been made for the conclave from the Chicago headquarters and told of the interest that has been centered about Oakland as the result of publicity which the convention has been given in the East. He congratulated the members of the Oakland assembly for the manner and spirit in which they have worked to make the impending gathering of salesmen in this city the biggest event of its kind in the history of the association and one of the most important conventions ever held in Oakland.

The international officers declared today that they were greatly pleased at the outlook for the meeting.

SUCCESSFUL CONVENTION EXPECTED.
"I expect that this will be the most successful gathering that the organization has ever had," International President Burns said today. "Oakland is certainly an ideal city for the meeting, and we expect to accomplish a great deal. I want now to thank the citizens and the various organizations for the hospitality which they are showing us as visitors."

"Never have the prospects for a district been brighter and never in the history of the association has there been more interest or enthusiasm displayed. We are all anxious for the conference to get under way."

CONVENTION WILL OPEN THIS EVENING.
The convention will open tonight at 8 o'clock. Burns will call the meeting to order and invocation will be said by Rev. John Snaps. The address of welcome will be made by Mayor John L. Boa Constrictors Pets For Women

LONDON, Feb. 20.—Boa constrictors caught on the shores of the Amazon are the latest fashionable pets for women. A flourishing business has been done by a London naturalist in selling these pets to professional dancing girls in England and on the continent. The snakes, which are kept in perforated zinc boxes fitted with tanks, include every variety of Brazilian boa constrictor. American bull snakes also are popular.

Here's Statistical Report on Ruhr

PARIS, Feb. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—An official statistical picture of the occupation of the Ruhr was before the French public today in the form of a statement to the foreign relations committee of the Chamber of Deputies by Premier Poincaré.

Expulsion of high German officials from the occupied region total 338, of whom 55 have been Rhineland functionaries.

Seventy trains a day are being operated in the Ruhr, whereas before the occupation the total was 1205 divided nearly equally between freight and passengers. The premier asserted that the decrease was due "to disturbed conditions caused by orders from Berlin."

French railway workers in the occupied area number 9540, while 1026 cars of coal have been sent to France and Belgium. The yearly production of the occupied district is estimated at ninety million tons.

The allies now occupy 2300 square kilometers of the Ruhr basin, comprising all but 500 square kilometers of the valley. All but 300 of the 14,500 coke ovens have been taken over.

Man Shot Six Times; Assailant Escapes

VISALIA, Feb. 20.—(By International News Service.)—E. Maraviglia, a ranch hand at the Gianini ranch south of this city, was in the Tulare hospital seriously wounded today, while peace officers sought A. Poletti of Fresno, who is alleged to have fired six shots into Maraviglia's chest in a quarrel. Poletti escaped in an automobile driven by John Nantini, who is sought as the only eye witness of the shooting.

TUT-ANKH-AMEN TO BE REVEALED UNTIL AUTUMN

most Egyptologists in France, declared his belief today that Lord Carnarvon's discovery near Luxor is not the authentic tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, but a temporary refuge, where the mummy was secreted by friends to prevent the ancient Pharaoh's bitter enemy and usurper of his throne, King Armais, from finding and despoiling the grave.

Professor Benedite's opinion was supported by another famous French Egyptologist, Professor Georges Reneppe, curator of the Egyptian department of Louvre museum. Both have been following the Luxor discoveries with intense interest and admit that the finding of the art objects more than 3000 years old marks an epoch in Egyptian discoveries.

ARMIS CONSIDERED TO TUT-ANKH-AMEN'S TOMB.

"The explorer, Dr. Davis, in 1912, found King Armais' tomb, but the wall decorations and inscriptions on the sarcophagus were proved to have been intended originally for Tut-Ankh-Amen," said Professor Benedite. "We do not know who removed Tut-Ankh-Amen's body and installed the mummy of Armais. I am certain that the tomb found by Lord Carnarvon is not the royal sepulchre. The tombs of Rameses III, Rameses IX, Merneptah and Seti I are much more luxurious and larger. It was necessary to cross four, five and even six hallways before arriving at the inner shrine containing the sarcophagus with the mummy."

"In comparison with these, the Luxor discovery is revealed as a poor tomb, not at all corresponding in splendor to others constructed in the reign of Tut-Ankh-Amen. The brilliant splendor found near Luxor, it must be remembered, consisted of portable objects such as jewels, marvelously wrought furniture, art works and so on, which could easily be carried. They are said to surpass anything found elsewhere in Egypt. There is an evident discrepancy between the richness of the objects and the poverty of the mural decorations in this tomb in the Valley of the Kings."

RUHR SOCIALISTS NEARLY TO FORM HEAD TUT-ANKH 'PEACE OF HONOR'

Willing for "Reasonable Reparations," But Firm Against French.

BERLIN, Feb. 20.—(By International News Service.)—"Germany is still ready to pay reparations to the extent of her ability, her capacity being determined by a searching but impartial investigation," the government announced this afternoon. The statement added that "Germans are unalterably resolved upon passive resistance in the Ruhr until the very last."

By CARL D. GROAT.

United Press Staff Correspondent.

(Copyright, 1933, by United Press.)

ESSEN, Feb. 20.—German Socialists in the Ruhr now are ready for "an honorable peace" with the French on the basis of payment of "a reasonable reparation."

They not only insist that Chancellor Cuno miss no opportunity to open negotiations, but demand he do so immediately.

Unlike the Pan-Germans, the Socialists are not insisting on the formula "first take the troops out before negotiations are started."

I have the foregoing information—the most important single development since the Ruhr venture reached a deadlock—from Otto Chrysomanski, secretary of the Essen division of the Socialist-Democratic party. The Socialists, with more than 100,000 paying members, constitute the largest political group here.

The Krupps and other industrialists are doing their utmost to keep the workers in line, even go-

AMATEUR FLIRT GETS HALF HOUR TO LEAVE TOWN

"I'm not a regular inisher, mar-bit because I was lonesome and Fred Durring, who said he was from Los Angeles and headed east, made that statement to Marshal J. P. Peralta, this morning, after he had remained in jail over night on a charge of pressing unwelcome attentions on a young woman waiting for a train at the Southern Pacific depot.

"I'll give you just thirty minutes to get out of San Leandro," said Peralta, after consideration. Durring reached the limits with twenty minutes to spare.

THIS IS VERY IMPORTANT.

LONDON.—Dictators of fashion now bar the wearing of white spats at tea dances.

ing to the extent of offering them shares in the companies for which they work.

The fact that the Socialist-Democrats are insisting upon negotiations does not mean that the Ruhr's resistance is collapsing.

I have just returned from a visit to the haunts of the workers. Everywhere I found the strongest resentment against the invasion, the strongest desire to defeat French militarism.

Chrysomanski explains the sentiment thus:

"We are ready for an honorable peace; in fact, we are insisting upon negotiations. As long as our homes are ravaged with the bayonet, the innocently affected working people will stand unshakably together."

But that does not mean, that workers desire to carry the battle to a point where we are bled white, for we know that after this battle is over we must bleed some more.

"We recommend a reasonable reparation. We are willing to do our utmost to restore devastated France. But we must fight French militarism the same as German."

SOVIETS LAUNCH STORMING WAR ON BOOTLEGGERS

Scenes in American Cities Duplicated in Russia's Anti-Vodka Law.

MOSCOW, Feb. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Russian government has declared war on bootleggers and manufacturers of illicit "hooch" and the campaign is duplicating many of the scenes of the situation in New York and other American cities.

The sale of wines and beers is legal in Russia, but the Soviet regime has continued the war policy established early in 1915, of banning vodka and other stronger intoxicants. These are now being made in huge quantities illicitly and nearly every one of Moscow's newly rich has his private source of supply.

During the last three months of 1932, according to statistics furnished, the correspondent by the Moscow authorities, the police made 5037 house searches and discovered nearly 3000 private stills. Evidence obtained even indicated that there were "vodka trusts," or combinations of capital to produce the liquor in large quantities. Restaurants have been searched and quantities of brandies and high power spirits seized while in some instances patrons "bringing their own" have been arrested.

Heavy prison sentences or expulsion from Moscow are the penalties applied to violators of the law.

EVANSTON, Ill.—Henry Cook stepped off a railroad train traveling 50 miles an hour. He was only slightly shaken up and was able to walk away.

NAVY SCRAPPING

12 SHIPS SAVED

Dismantling of Warships to Wait Action by Other Nations.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—All preparations for the sale and scrapping of the twelve United States battleships, doomed by the agreement reached at the recent limitation of arms conference at Washington, D. C., were halted today by orders received at the Twelfth Naval district yesterday from Secretary of the Navy Denby.

These orders call for the discontinuance at once of all scrapping operations and the cancellation of plans for preparing battleships for sale.

Naval officers declared today that they were awaiting further word from Washington which might explain the navy department's action.

The order from Secretary Denby received yesterday by Admiral Halstead, commanding the Twelfth naval district, reads:

Pending the final exchange of the ratification of the limitation of armament treaties, no material can be removed from the subject battleships without the authority of the secretary of the navy.

The battleships for the present will not be prepared for sale.

For the above reason, instructions regarding the sale will be cancelled. All instructions at variance are hereby cancelled.

The vessels affected by the order are the Georgia, Nebraska, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Virginia, Kansas, Louisiana, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Vermont, Michigan and South Carolina.

Following the receipt of the orders from Washington, came word of the completion at Tacoma of three destroyers of the super type. The new destroyers have been named the Milwaukee, Cincinnati and Omaha. They are 7200 tons each, can attain a speed of 34 knots an hour and are 555 feet in length. The new vessels are six times the size of the destroyers at present in use in the United States navy, which average 1200 tons. They will each have twelve six-inch guns mounted in six turrets.

Crews for the new ships will be recruited at once at Goat Island and conveyed north by the receiving ship Boston.

The new orders are believed to be the result of the unsettled conditions in world affairs.

LION HUNTER TO SPEAK.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—J. E. Bruce, state lion hunter, will give a lecture on lion hunting, at the California Academy of Sciences, Golden Gate Park, March 7. Stereopticon and slides will be provided. There will also be on exhibition a half-grown lion, captured by Bruce.

Battle of Kites Wins Praise for Aerial Bombers

GALVESTON, Tex., Feb. 19.—Major General Edward M. Lewis praised today the maneuvers of the Sixtieth Anti-aircraft Battalion in simulated warfare against enemy bombing planes, last night.

"The demonstration was among the best I have ever seen," General Lewis said. "The manner in which searchlights and guns were handled was excellent."

Amid the glare of six searchlights, five throwing beams of three billion candlepower and one smaller, four kites were towed high in the air, across the line of fire, and demolished, one after another, by two sections of machine guns.

Two kites were cut loose from their strings and floated to the ground amid a hail of bullets, while the other two were so badly hit that they could not fly. Tracer bullets, the paths of which could be plainly discerned, were used.

Fourteen small hydrogen balloons were released from unknown positions about the field, two being released at a time. Out of the total of fourteen, twelve were demolished, one got away and one failed to leave the ground. Battery "A," the searchlight battery, handled the six big lights, five of which were sixty-inch lights of three billion candlepower and one, a 30-inch light, of three hundred million candlepower, army officers explained today.

Two of the fourteen balloons were demolished at the first shot, an unusual feat of marksmanship, according to General Lewis.

Six Men Are Killed When Trains Crash

SAYRE, Pa., Feb. 20 (By International News Service).—Six men were killed early today when No. 17, fast mail train of the Lehigh Valley railroad, crashed into the rear of a freight train at Rummelsburg, 2 1/2 miles east of here.

The dead are: WILLIAM SCHOLLENBERGER of Easton, Pa., engineer of No. 17, O. W. McDANIELS, of Athens, trainman on the mail train.

O. L. CULBER, of Sayre, Pa., engineer of the freight, GEORGE KASPER, of Sayre, fireman on the freight.

JOHN NODOLIN, of Easton, fireman of engine No. 147, which was being towed by the freight, JOSEPH FOX, of Sayre, fireman on the mail train.

Kasper was not instantly killed, but died while he was being taken to a local hospital.

The cause of the wreck has not been determined. Walter Long, assistant signal superintendent of the Lehigh Valley, said all signals were working properly.

The longest shot made by bow and arrow on record is 434 yards, made in 1784.

DELINQUENT GIRL

ATTACKS MATRON
AT OAKLAND INSTITUTION

Mrs. Sarah D. Riego, matron of the Oakland Detention Home, is being treated today for a laceration of the scalp received Sunday night when one of the girl inmates of the home struck her upon the head with a nozzle of a fire extinguisher. The attack occurred while Mrs. Riego was seated at the piano playing hymns for the girls. Three girls, believed to be implicated in a plot to knock the matron senseless and make their escape from the institution, are confined to their rooms.

Jean O'Day, aged 17, was standing beside Mrs. Riego when the attack occurred. As the matron turned toward her one of the other girls, Cora Grant, aged 17, is said to have struck her.

According to other officials at the home, this is the only time in 12 years that a breach of discipline of this kind has occurred.

REMINGTON IN FEAR OF DEATH, ASKED GUARD

L. A. Man Sought Detectives Aid; Probably Killed by His Own Gun.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20.—(By the United Press).—Earle Remington, slain aviator and clubman, sought help from a private detective on the night of his murder, it was revealed today.

He feared for his life and had called a private detective to meet him at 9 p. m.

The detective in question, Charles Dana Collins, said he armed himself heavily as Remington asked especially that he come well armed, and went to meet him in front of the athletic club. He waited until 10 o'clock and then as Remington had not come, he went on home.

Meanwhile, according to the police, Remington had engaged a room in a second-rate hotel, occupying it from about 9 p. m. until 11 p. m.

Remington gave him no indication of the nature of the danger which he was facing. Detective Collins said.

The police plan to question Estelle LeSage, stenographer, who says she was with Remington on the night of the murder from 6 p. m. to 11 p. m. and that during this time she went to two movies with him. She had been a member of a gay party the night before at a well known roadhouse, at which Remington and some business friends from New York were present.

Police now believe that Remington was shot with his own gun. A sixteen gauge shotgun had been stolen from his office on Seaton street about two weeks before the murder. It is believed that his gun was stolen by the woman and her companion who planned and executed his murder.

Tracing of Remington's twelve young women friends continued today.

One beautiful mystery girl has been taken to police headquarters, questioned and carefully spirited away without her name being revealed.

Traveler Defies Death Although His Grave Ready

DR. L. S. SUGDEN, whose coffin was all ready for him—but who refused to die.

Globe Trotter Relates Unique Experience While Doing Swaziland, Africa.

With his grave already prepared, and his coffin lying open beside his cot, Dr. Leonard Schofield Sugden, noted traveler, fought death with the aid of a native witch doctor in Swaziland, Africa, and is now back in America alive and well.

Dr. Sugden has had many notable previous experiences in his career as a globe-trotter and explorer. He witnessed "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" in Juneau, Alaska—the incident immortalized by the famous poem by Service. He attended Jack London when the latter was ill in the Klondike. And he has fought cinnamon bears in the Northwest and snakes and fever in Brazil.

His latest exploit—that of cheating death in "Darkest Africa"—was accomplished after he had been given up by a British army surgeon. His case was diagnosed as the "black water fever," a malignant disease of the tropics.

Companions who were traveling with Dr. Sugden gave up all hope, and in order to be prepared to effect an immediate interment as soon as his expected death should occur, improvised a coffin out of packing cases and dug a grave for him.

A "witch doctor" among the natives then obtained permission to prescribe for the dying white man. He gave Dr. Sugden a strange concoction, taken from a "bag of tricks." Within a week Dr. Sugden was cured, and was on his way back to civilization.

STYLE SHOW FOR SHRINERS' CIRCUS

The Oakland Shriners are planning an elaborate style show to be held in conjunction with the Shrine Circus which will be staged at the Auditorium during the early part of April.

"Inasmuch as the pilgrimage which the delegates of the local Shrine will make to the Washington Shrine Convention will be in the nature of an exploitation excursion, it has been felt that exploitation should start at home," explained W. H. Hamilton, in charge of the event. "And, therefore, we are planning to include a most comprehensive exhibit of Eastbay merchandise and products to be held in conjunction with the circus. The exhibition range will be wide and will run from the latest styles in dresses and clothing to the latest models in automobiles."

The circus will be held under the direct supervision of the following two committees representing Aahmes Temple:

Millions of wishes created this record

EVERY time a phonograph record has been played these past twenty years—ever since the first disc record—some one has wished that surface sound might be abolished.

Millions and millions of times it has been wished—by people with sensitive nerves, who hear the noise of needle friction above everything—by keen-eared music lovers listening for delicate phrasing and expression, which they know to be there, but which are drowned in the blur of surface sounds.

Those millions of wishes have at last come true in the form of Columbia New Process Records. Columbia engineers and chemists solved the problem by the discovery of a new surface substance so fine and smooth that the needle travels over it almost inaudibly.

All of the Columbia records out today are made with this amazingly quiet, new surface.

Tear out this list and take it to a Columbia Dealer. He will play any or all that you request. Note the fullness and sweetness of tone, a finer musical quality than you ever heard before. Note the absence of any annoying surface distraction.

As an example of this wonderful new construction and superior musical charm ask to hear A-3790. It's Ted Lewis and His Band playing "Runnin' Wild"—a fox-trot that will keep you dancing till it's time to bring in the milk. Its accompaniment on the other side is "St. Louis Blues."

Only in Columbia New Process Records can you obtain this perfection of surface quietness. The process is patented.

DISPLAY WINDOW ILLUMINATION IS SHOWN BY CLUB

Cooperative Campaign Committee at Luncheon Exploits Lighting.

Advanced methods of display window illumination were demonstrated to members of the Oakland Electric club and retail merchants of the chamber of commerce by representatives of the California co-operative electrical campaign committee, at the club's luncheon at the Hotel Oakland yesterday. The demonstration took place in the ballroom of the hotel, where a model show window equipped with the latest in lighting appliances was exhibited under the direction of L. E. Voyer, illuminating engineer of the General Electric company, and Robert L. Ellingham, manager of the campaign.

Wax figures and models, displaying wearing apparel were placed in the model display window and through the reflection of various lights on the display it was demonstrated that proper illumination of show windows is one of the most important factors in making the goods appeal to the passer-by.

WINDOW SHOPPING DATA.

"More people go window shopping in California than in any other state in the union," Ellingham, who was chairman of the meeting, stated. "Statistics gathered by the electrical industry throughout the country in preparation for this campaign show that more people stop on the street to look into show windows in the cities of California, in proportion to the population of this state, than in any other state in the country."

"Checks were kept in various localities on the number of people that stopped to look at show window displays, and it was also discovered that the windows that were attractively lighted by the proper illuminating appliances drew attention from many times more spectators than did windows that were lighted by ordinary means. A further check showed that the sales of the stores under proper window illumination had actually increased 100 per cent."

Voyer explained the importance of having certain articles of merchandise displayed in a certain way.

APPEAL BY LIGHTS.

"First on display in a window," Voyer said, "must be shown up with lights of a shade that reflect an atmosphere of coldness. Dark warm colors do not produce the desired effect. Pale shades of blue or green or a combination of these two colors reflected about a background of cold white has the effect of emphasizing the coolness of the goods and is most desirable."

"Second, warm colors do not reflect the message which the merchant wants to get over to the buying public that winter furniture is the most desirable type of furniture for summer weather."

"Summer sporting goods and wearing apparel," continued Voyer, "should be lighted with shades of pink and red or other combinations of colored lights which reflect the atmosphere of warm summer weather."

appeal to the imagination of the spectator.

"Winter furniture on display in a window in the summertime is a mistake," Voyer said, "because it reflects the atmosphere of coldness."

"Dark, warm colors do not reflect the message which the merchant wants to get over to the buying public that winter furniture is the most desirable type of furniture for summer weather."

"Summer sporting goods and wearing apparel," continued Voyer, "should be lighted with shades of pink and red or other combinations of colored lights which reflect the atmosphere of warm summer weather."

U. S. Agents Watch Klansman's Trial

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, Feb. 20.—Several operatives from the department of justice were on hand as observers when the police court opened today to consider the case of W. M. Cortner, kinsman of the Ku Klux Klan, whose arrest was made last week on a charge of riotous conspiracy after a raid was made on the Klan headquarters by the local police.

Support For Police Force Is Urged

An appeal for business men to help them to enforce the laws was sounded by Commissioner of Public Health and Safety Frank Colbourn before members of the Kiwanis Club at their luncheon at the Hotel Oakland yesterday.

"The police department is helpless," Colbourn said, "unless it has the support of the good citizens of the community. I wish I could make you men realize the necessity of helping to enforce the laws. By enforcement of the law only can we make America safe for business."

According to a report made by the committee, the Kiwanis Club realized a profit of $353.44 on the show.

AND CORRIGAN DOES TO LAURELS WHEELER HALL

"A Dour Play by J. Galsworthy, Presented by Players."

By WOOD SOANES.

Lloyd Corrigan added a new to his histrionic laurel crown in the Greek Theater production of John Galsworthy's "Justice" at Wheeler Hall last night, and the production was distinguished by one tremendously effective scene.

"Justice" is a dour play at best, as it does with the Galsworthy idea of the weighings of blind gods, and does not itself readily to presentation. It was under harmonious scenic conditions, which made the task of players doubly difficult.

Under a young clerk in a British office, commits forgery in a moment of mental aberration to assist a friend, a married woman whose home life is made most unpleasant by her brutal husband. He is caught in the meshes of the law.

The play would not be at all pleasant were it not for the presence of Cokeson, the senior clerk, a kindly, genial, sympathetic soul, who watches like an ineffectual guardian angel over the erring boy. Harold Minger was the boy and it was as the senior clerk that Corrigan scored his triumph.

As for the balance of the players, their repression was their fault. Uniformly the company played one key and the monotone did not serve to enliven the play, although it emphasized the inextinguishable of the fate that guided their ends.

Particularly distressing was this in the court room scene where lengthy speeches replaced action and its absence in the third scene of the second act when Faldor, the convicted clerk, wars with himself against his fate along with the other doomed prisoners. This scene was the outstanding point of the performance.

Of the supporting company, Mary Morris had the best role in that of the hapless Ruth Honeywill, a role difficult of interpretation. Others were William Roney, Richard Ehlers, Edward Spiegel, Maybon Kingsley, Frank Teasdale, Clayton Lane, George Cook, John Herzog, Everett Glass, David Barnwell, Raymond Jucenelli, Horace Smith, George Tays, Conrad Kahn, Samuel Haight and Eugene Taliaferro.

LIGHT IN SKY LIKE COMET TAIL

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 20.—A bright red light in the southerly heavens attracted wide attention here last night. For more than half an hour the object resembled the tail of a comet.

At 9:15 the light faded. Professor H. A. Richardson, a local astronomer, said it was probably the tail of a meteor, although it resembled a comet. He could not determine whether the light faded because of the intervening of clouds or whether the object itself had disappeared.

Razor Used On Corn Costs Woman Life

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 20.—When Mrs. Henry C. Carlton was told by a friend that razors were successfully used in paring off corns, she decided she would use this method. Going home, she got out her husband's razor and started to work. Suddenly Mrs. Carlton slipped off the chair on which she was sitting. The razor cut an artery in her leg as she fell and Mrs. Carlton bled to death. Her husband discovered her body a few hours later.

CLINTAIN CALIS

SHAKESPEARE having had his little fling at the bright lights after two or three hundred years or more is about to be replaced, and if Frank Vreeland, who interprets the "Talk of Broadway" for the New York Herald, is right the replacement will not be by farce comedy but by dramas dealing with the traffic in dope.

"It is possible that presently the mystery thriller, too, may be forced to give way to the greater thrill of getting the drama via the hypodermic injection," Vreeland writes. "The time is considered ripe for such plays in view of the froth of discussion over the narcotic habit, being whipped up in the magazines and newspapers."

At all events two plays are now getting ready to make the final plunge into the theatrical waters of Gotham and both expect to have a narcotic effect on numerous entertainment seekers. They are "The Slavemaster," Sam Harris' choice for Mary Hylan, and "Open All Night," by Willard Robertson and Kibourn Gordon.

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

Mlle. Zella de Lussan will be heard in concert at the Macdonough theater tonight with Angelo Frontini at the piano.

"The Slavemaster" was originally called "Snow" and is said to revolve around that variety of powder which is occupying columns of space devoted to the opiate traffic. It is now in rehearsal and is expected to be ready for general consumption next month.

"Open All Night" was tried out at the George Marshall stock company theater in Baltimore last Sunday. It deals with the dealing in narcotics for a living. Orme Caldara is playing the heavy in the piece and Frances Howard, last in New York with "Swifty," has the leading feminine role.

Agnes Is an Old-Fashioned Flapper, She Is

"There really isn't very much to tell. I don't drink or smoke and I like this business very much. In fact I ran away from school to take my first engagement. I have tried vaudeville, motion pictures, musical comedy and now dramatic stock, and I like the last best because I really hope some day to be a great dramatic artist. Anyway, I intend to work with that in view."

There you have a thumb-nail view of the aims and character of Agnes Sanford, the newest member of the Fulton Players, who stands in a fair way to make something of a hit as an ingenue after she acquires a little more dramatic finesse. But inasmuch as she is very, very young and is apparently willing to learn and study, hers should not be a too difficult task.

FORTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

Denman Thompson began a season at the Grand Opera House in New York in "The Old Homestead." The critics did not take kindly to the piece, tabulating it as a mixture of cheap melodrama and Bowery farce. They decided that it was a farce comedy.

Miss Sanford is the daughter of Frank D. Sanford, superintendent of schools at La Grange, Illinois, for twenty-seven years and niece of Mrs. Ella S. Steyer, the millionaire Chicago suffragist. She was educated at Eureka College in Illinois and ran away to become Alan Brooks' leading woman in the vaudeville sketch "Dollars and Sense."

Due to paternal influence she returned to college to finish her course and then migrated to Los Angeles, where she spent three months in pictures on the Selznick lot, appearing with Elaine Hammerstein in "One Week of Love" among other things.

Then came an engagement in the ingenue role of Harry Fox's "Oh Look" company, in which she did a spectacular show-stopping dance among other things. And now the Fulton.

EXITS AND ENTRANCES

The Century theater has evolved a new idea and one of profit to the widow's and orphan's fund of the Oakland fire department. Each complimentary ticket at the theater calls for a "tax" of five cents. The money is given to the firemen. It takes the place of the old war-tax.

Henry Hull has been delegated to play the principal role in the

VENTRILOQUIST IS FAVORITE ON PANTAGES STAGE

Leaders of Rex Opera Company Present One-Act Version of "Mikado."

Harry Coleman with his walking dolls and his ventriloquism returned to top the bill at the Pantages theater yesterday in point of popular favor. Coleman is one of the most finished performers of his class in vaudeville and is a great favorite here as was attested by the reception he was given on his entrance.

This week's program at Pantages includes five vaudeville acts, a feature picture and a thumb-nail opera. Members of the stranded Rex Reynolds Opera company banded together and prepared a one-act version of "The Mikado," sans chorus and made a presentable appearance. The participants were Rollin Johnson, Florence Tennyson, Norman Chandler, Irma Elce and Phil Fein, who staged the act.

Other numbers on the program are "Chinero the Japanese balances and top spinner who opened the Harry Lauder program at the Auditorium recently; Ward and Dooley in a hodge-podge variety act during the course of which Ward instructed the audience when to laugh and when to applaud; Katherine Appleton in a musical offering, and the Algerians, a standard closing act.

The feature picture this week is "The Marriage Chance," featuring Alta Allen and Milton Sills and including Henry B. Walthall, Irene Rich, Tully Marshall, Mitchell Lewis. It is an almost all-star cast in a picture with a weak ending.—W. S.

Ganna Walska Opens Song Tour in U. S.

ELMHURST, N. Y., Feb. 20.—Madame Ganna Walska, wife of Harold P. McCormick of Chicago, appeared for the first time upon the American concert stage here last night. Walska is opening a tour which takes her on Wednesday to Detroit and later across the continent to sing in several coast cities, thence back to Chicago.

The singer was in a happy mood and sang a difficult program. Madame Walska appeared in historic Park church. She was gorgeously attired and wore in addition to other jewels, the rope of pearls gift of McCormick.

Next Equity production in New York. It will be called "Roger Bloomer," and opens next week.

"Just Married" reports that it has made $87,000 on the road. It was in New York for sixty weeks and finished only $3000 better than it started. And yet they say road tours are not profitable.

The Schuberts have bought "Society," the latest exposure of human nature by Cosmo Hamilton, according to report.

Ruth Chatterton is soon to be presented by A. L. Erlanger in "William's Wife," a play by Eugene Senecal Courtwright.

SECRET RADIO SYSTEM WILL BE TESTED IN NAVY

New Oakland Device May Drive Code Books to Discard.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Experiments with a new electric code machine which its inventor, Edward H. Hebern of Oakland, asserts makes possible absolute security in transmission of messages, the first goal of all communication experts, will be carried out aboard the flagship of the United States fleet in the approaching maneuvers of the Panama canal. This information was obtained today from the navy department.

The machine, which is manufactured in Oakland, is smaller than the average typewriter and weighs less, yet it is claimed to be capable of nearly 12,000,000 changes, making possible as many different codes, each having a different key.

Its operation is simple, the sending operator writing the message on a typewriter keyboard in plain English. The rest is automatic. The receiver machine putting the message into code and flashing it from the radio sending set. At the receiving radio station a similar machine, even smaller, automatically records it, decodes and presents it in its original form on an illuminated keyboard.

The whole secret rests with the key wheels with which each machine is equipped. Any number of these can be provided for a machine, the corresponding wheels for sending and receiving being numbered.

In sending the operator first types letters common to two spools and the receiving operator locates the "mate" and inserts it into his machine. Two spools are similarly wired and no others will work together.

If the invention succeeds the cumbersome code books and cipher codes will go into the discard and with them the ever-present danger of the enemy having in his possession copies of them which makes the secret message an open book.

Immigration Issue Solved For Session

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—New immigration restriction legislation apparently is dead so far as this session of congress is concerned. While the proposed substitute for the existing statute is ready for House action, Senate leaders are adverse to bringing up so important a measure at the end of the session with calendars already crowded, especially in view of the fact that the present immigration law does not expire until June 30, 1924.

There are two general policies proposed in the new measure which undoubtedly would lead to extended discussion in the Senate. One is the writing into law of the "gentlemen's agreement" with Japan, and the other is a proposal to reduce the basis of immigration from the present 3 per cent on the 1910 census to 3 per cent on the 1920 census.

ORGAN CONCERT

TO BE BROADCAST TO BE BROADCAST

A complete organ concert will be broadcast this evening from Radio K LX, between 8 and 9 o'clock. The selections will range from popular jazz to classical compositions.

The concert will be given on the Robert Morton organ installed at K LX. It is manufactured in Berkeley by the American Photo-Player company and is a combination of the orchestral and concert type of instrument, the first of its kind to be used for radio broadcasting.

One of the human features associated with this evening's program is the securing of one of the performers on the Robert Morton in New York, who is making the trip out here for this occasion.

DAUGHTER SUE BY HER FATHER IN WILL TANGLE

R. L. Eaton of Colfax Seeks to Recover $15,000 From San Jose Woman.

SAN JOSE, Feb. 20. — Mrs. Dorothy McMahon, wife of Ray McMahon, San Jose newspaperman, was yesterday made defendant in a suit for $15,000 brought by her father, Russell L. Eaton of Colfax, as a result of an odd will tangle resulting from the disposition of the $2,000,000 estate of Mrs. Elizabeth Patterson Mitchell Ladd, who died in San Francisco in 1917.

Mrs. Ladd's will bequeathed to Mrs. McMahon, an indirect heir, $200,000, while Eaton, a direct heir, was left but $75,000. Eaton alleges that his daughter agreed to pay him $25,000 if he did not contest the will, which attorneys say could have been easily broken. Thus far his daughter has paid but $10,000, Eaton claims, and refuses to pay the remaining $15,000, asserting that no such agreement or contract, as Eaton maintains in his complaint, was ever made between her and her father.

Under the law, say attorneys, if Eaton had broken the will left by Mrs. Ladd, he would have been entitled to $700,000, or one-third of the estate. For sentimental and other reasons, say Attorneys Rea, Casper and Caldwell of this city, and Attorney Thomas Krog of San Francisco, who are representing Eaton, Mrs. McMahon's father forewent this fortune, permitting his daughter to accept the $200,000, while he agreed to accept $25,000 and did not attempt to break the will. Eaton's attorneys say that the will tangle has brought about the estrangement of Eaton and his daughter. The lawyers claim that they can bring ample evidence into court to prove that the agreement made between Mrs. McMahon and her father regarding the $25,000 was made.

The case will be tried before Superior Judge C. B. Brown of the San Jose County Superior court at an early date. Mrs. McMahon is represented by Louis Onal, prominent San Jose attorney.

AUTO SHOW HOLDS CENTER OF STAGE

"Say, Bob, what are you doing these days—anything in particular?"

"Why, hello, Joe? I'm holding down the same old job. But what's the idea? I got something good up your sleeve that needs to be pulled out?"

"Oh, I only thought you would be a good fellow to take to the Auto Show this week."

"I'd be glad to go with you, Joe. In fact, I had planned on taking it in. I want to get some new ideas about cars."

"Is that so? Well, maybe I'll ride home in your shiny new car. What kind are you going to indulge in?"

"Don't talk like a fish. I'll pay your way for a ride home in a shiny street car. Laying all jokes aside, I would like to take a car home with me, but I can't do it for a month or two yet. There are too many other things to buy. If I don't get a new suit soon, these days the ragpicker will be shadowing me."

"Allow me to make a suggestion regarding a new suit for yourself. Go to Cherry's, at 523 13th street, and pick out something to suit yourself. The prices are low, and the best part of it is they will allow you six months in which to pay."

Cherry's store for women is at 515 13th street.—Advertisement.

SALESMEN TO OPEN MEETING HERE TONIGHT

President Makes Appeal to Men and Women to Join Organization.

B. F. Brzozowski, assistant to the president of the International Association of Specialty Salesmen, speaking to members of the Soroptimist club at their luncheon at the Hotel Oakland yesterday urged all business, professional and sales women of Oakland to take an active part in the association's convention which opens in this city tonight.

The speaker also made an appeal for members of the club to join the salesmen's organization during the convention here, pointing out that the International Association of Specialty Salesmen is the only organization in the world which is making a particular effort to secure women members.

15,000 IN ORGANIZATION.

"The association was founded less than three years ago by Robert E. Hicks in Chicago," said the speaker. "The original membership was forty-two men, representing fourteen states. In less than three years the organization has grown to 15,000 members, representing every state in the country and many of the big cities in Canada and Mexico."

"Robert E. Hicks, founder of the organization, is one of the most successful figures in American business life. He was at one time one of the most successful of the fake sales operators who, according to his own confessions, sold mustard powder that would make white powder where there were none before and 'love powders' that would make any one you wanted fall in love with you and be your bond slave for life."

Hicks was convicted of using the United States mails to defraud. He forfeited his bond after being arrested and escaped to Europe. He returned to this country and was a fugitive from justice for thirteen years, when he finally gave himself up and went to prison. In 1915 he was pardoned by President Wilson and took an oath at that time to devote the remaining years of his life to a fight against the evil in business, of which he himself had been one of the moving spirits until calamity overtook him.

FIGHTS BUSINESS EVILS.

"He was a white-haired man past 60 when he was released from prison, but, being inspired with a desire to make restitution for the evil he had done, he began a fight against crooked sales and business men, in which he has not only triumphed, but in which he has aroused the whole country to follow him."

"The magazine which he established to expose dishonest salesmen and sales organizations has grown into a journal of enormous circulation and an institution which is making him the greatest of the many fortunes the remarkable man has made. The organization which he founded to carry on the work of promoting the 'squarest kind of a square deal in business,' the International Association of Specialty Salesmen, is the largest salesmen's organization in the world today and the fastest growing business."

WHO WILL GIVE HOME TO THESE FINE CHILDREN?

BERKELEY, Feb. 20.—A cooing baby girl of five months, a sturdy lad of two years, several boys of older ages—have you a place in your home for them?

The Berkeley Welfare Society, through its children's agent, Miss Cecil Mossbacher, today, makes this appeal. The society is searching for suitable homes where all of the children may get the proper kind of care and supervision. The sum of $17.50 is paid for the care of the children with milk and clothes also provided.

There are several boys of 14 years who are looking for homes. Aid in placing these homeless children is sought. Information can be had at the office of the Welfare Society, 2120 Grove street, or by telephoning Berkeley 9434.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20.—Fire, caused by a red-hot electric iron, which had stood all night on an ironing board in the rear of the Rudemiller specialty shop, in the downtown district, early today damaged a $25,000 stock of hats and gowns and for a time threatened the destruction of the entire shop.

men's association in the United States.

SPEAKERS AT MEET. "Hicks will be one of the many interesting speakers who will address sessions of the convention. Other international authorities on sales and business topics, such as Arthur G. Taylor, head of the National Salesmen's Training Association; Samuel Spaulding, editor of 'How to Sell and What,' and other prominent men will address the convention."

"It is our earnest desire to have the public of the bay district join with us at all of our sessions to hear these talks, and we particularly urge you business women of the Soroptimist Club to attend our gatherings and to join the association."

Mrs. Helen Sweet Artida, executive secretary of the Public Welfare League, made an appeal to the Soroptimist Club to send a letter of protest to Governor Richardson against any cut in the State budget which will affect the State Board of Corrections, under whose supervision the industrial farm for delinquent women is operated. The club adopted a resolution to this effect.

SHE DARKENED HER GRAY HAIR

Tells How She Did It With a Home-made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Books, a well known resident of Buchanan county, Iowa, who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger.—Advertisement.

LEASE HELD UP

RICHMOND, Feb. 20.—A lease of city land near the municipal wharf for a ferry landing will be advertised for sale and sold to the highest bidder, it was determined by the city council last night at the close of long discussion with representatives of the two competing ferry companies present.

Only when the bids are opened, possibly several weeks hence, will the people of Richmond know whether O. J. Gordon and A. J. Draughon of Vallejo and associates will get the lease, or the Richmond-San Francisco Ferry company. All bids must be accompanied by a cash bond, the amount to be determined by the council.

E. S. Lufkin, representative of the Richmond-San Francisco Ferry company, said that his company had priority rights, and urged that the matter go over for three weeks in order to protect the stockholders, many of whom were Richmond people. He warned the council that if any attempt is made in the meantime to grant a lease the matter will be taken to court.

Lufkin told the council that his company had intended putting on two boats and giving forty-minute service, while the opposition would establish one boat and give two-hour service.

A. J. Draughon said that his associates were willing to install the ferry under the terms proposed, but he was willing to leave the matter to the council to decide which company was best able to carry out the projected ferry to a successful finish.

Emancipation of Turkish WomenUrged by Kemal

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Mustapha Kemal Pasha, who was recently married to the daughter of a rich Smyrna notable, has made a noteworthy public pronouncement in favor of the emancipation of Turkish women. Speaking before the Teachers' Association of Broussa, he declared that the work before the nation could only be perfected if Turkish women joined equally with the men in educating themselves and in taking active parts in the nation's affairs.

Kemal ascribed the present exclusion of the sex in Turkey to Persian influence, asserting that it was not in accordance with the precepts of the Moslem religion. He recalled the olden times when Turkish women went to war side when women succeeded to the throne of the Sultans. At the very dawn of Islamism there were women savants, women of letters, women orators and women who opened schools, lectured and took a great part in the public life.

The Moslem religion, he said, orders women to educate themselves in the same degree as men.

It was only in the large towns even now, he continued, that women secluded themselves. In the country they worked with the men and participated in all their activities. In the cities the tradition of seclusion had been carried too far.

Kemal concluded that women ought to include themselves moderately, but not hide themselves.

Kemal Pasha's bride is Latife Hanoum. She is reported to have brought him a dowry of approximately $550,000 at the present rate of exchange. The ceremony was in Turkish style, the two principals taking place before the Mufti. Kemal simply declared:

"I have decided to marry Latife Hanoum. Will you please accomplish the necessary ceremonies?" The mufti then addressed the woman, saying:

"Do you accept as husband Ghazi Mustapha Kemal Pasha in return for a gift from him of ten drams of silver and on condition of a nuptial indemnity as agreed upon by you in event of separation?"

The affirmative replies concluded the ceremony.

Mrs. William A. Fitzgerald, president of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, has sent to presidents of clubs throughout the state a circular asking them to use their influence toward the continuance of the home demonstration work of the state government.

Mrs. Fitzgerald asks club presidents and others of influence in the club world to write or wire to the governor, legislators and members of the State Board of Control, urging replacement of the appropriation needed to maintain home demonstration as it has heretofore been conducted under the extension division of the College of Agriculture.

Mrs. Fitzgerald says in her circular: "I have reason to believe that the appropriation for home demonstration work has been seriously cut and possibly entirely eliminated from the state budget by the State Board of Control. The promotion of home demonstration is an important part of the state and General Federation program. It is possible, even after the announcement of the state budget, to have the appropriation inserted."

BUDGET IS ASKED FOR COMMUNITY CHEST PURPOSE

Estimates Are Sought From Each Social Agency On Sums Required.

Estimates as to the funds which each local social agency will require of the Oakland Community Chest this year were today sought by the budget committee of the new organization, through the medium of standard blank forms, which were sent out to virtually all the charitable and welfare agencies in the city, to be filled out and returned.

Each agency was also sent an application blank for membership in the Community Chest, in which were stated the principles governing admission and membership. That an agency, in order to be eligible to admission to the Community Chest, must perform a needed service to the community, that it shall not be engaged simply in the promotion of denominational membership, and that it shall agree to forego separate solicitation for funds for operation and maintenance, are among the principal points stressed in the Community Chest regulations.

The blank forms on which budget estimates are to be made were sent out by Executive Secretary E. W. Williams acting for the budget committee, to 42 social agencies in Oakland, with the request that they be returned, properly filled out, on or before February 26.

The information required on the forms is as follows:

For Colds, Grip or Influenza and as a preventive, take Laxative BROMO QUININE Tablets. The box bears the signature of E. W. Grove. (Be sure you get BROMO). 3c.—Advertisement.

BILL WOULD TAX POOR CHILDREN FOR EDUCATION

HANFORD, Feb. 20.—Parents with no taxable property but with "numerous children" attending the public schools would pay an "educational poll tax" of $5 per child, under a bill that Assemblyman Frank Johnson of Kings county is preparing to submit upon the reconvening of the legislature after the constitutional recess.

Johnson said last night that parents with large families cannot acquire taxable property, except in rare instances, and yet they enjoy the privileges of free education for their children. He has not completed the measure as yet and is now endeavoring to insert a provision that will eliminate the chance of the tax becoming a hardship upon worthy parents and poor children.

Dry Enforcement Making Progress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Continually progressive improvement in the enforcement of prohibition laws is confidently expected by President Harding, it was said by high officials today.

The President was said to feel, however, that 29 years or even a longer period would be necessary to bring the public to the point where it will be adjusted to the new order resulting from the 18th amendment.

Japan Sidetracks Citizenship Clash

By CLARENCE DUBOSE, United Press Staff Correspondent.

TOKYO, Feb. 20.—The Japanese did not at this time take up the question of Japanese citizenship in America, according to a formal statement issued today by the government. Later, the statement indicated, the question may be considered, but not until the time is opportune.

KYNE'S ATTACKS ON MOVIES STIR PRODUCERS' IRE

Author Scored Will Hays in Denunciation of Modern Film Methods.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20.—(By United Press.)—"Will Hays is nothing but a stuffed shirt. For even what little good he has done in the movie business he has done by being hated by one of the biggest companies which is hiring him."

That was the statement made to the United Press today by Peter B. Kyne, noted author and one of the biggest drawing cards in the movies, who has just sung his "swan song" to the industry and bid it goodbye with a friendly charge of dynamite.

"All day yesterday I was bothered by producers who told me that I would get myself 'in bad' by my statements."

"I don't give a whoop"—only the author of Cappy Ricks didn't say "whoop"—"If I do."

"I'm through and it's about time somebody tells the truth about the movies. They have been sweeping their dirt into the corners too long and Will Hays is only their latest 1922 model of $150,000 dustbroom."

Kyne's remarks have set the Hollywood industry into the highest possible state of excitement and the rumblings of the counter bombardment are already heard.

Frank Condon, short story writer, now writing original stories and scenarios for the movies, fired this shot in the direction of Cappy Ricks' creator:

"Anyone who tells you definitely that one thing is an art and another isn't, is plainly wrong, because he doesn't know. Hordes of people believe that music is an art, painting an art, drama an art, but that making movies is a cross between pawnbroking and running a clock and suit house. The truth is that a good movie is just as much art as a good novel or painting."

Charles Lyton, general manager of the West Coast Famous Players-Lasky, admitted that the movies have been "swept under the rug" for too long. He said that the industry is about to eliminate them.

Stewart Edward White, well known novelist and short-story writer, today seconded Peter B. Kyne's denunciation of the motion picture industry in a high the latter declared it to be a money-making proposition lacking in either art or ethics.

"In the main I think Kyne is absolutely correct," White said today. "Personally, I have had very few unpleasant dealings with the picture people. Artistic pictures are the exception rather than the rule."

Douglas Fairbanks has expressed similar sentiments. It was said today. He is quoted as having denounced commercialism in the picture industry and as having announced that, with the United Artists, he is out to fight "canned movies."

Kyne made his criticism of the movies in announcing that he was through with them, and would permit them to film no more of his stories.

Knights of Pythias To Observe Birthday

MORGAN HILL

MORGAN HILL, Feb. 20.—Fire at the C. E. Cooper hatchery on Main avenue today destroyed the brooder plant and burned 1200 baby chicks Sunday afternoon. The fire is supposed to have started from the brooder stove. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

A committee from the Commercial Association, consisting of Frank Stevens, C. O. Edes and John Teller is working to establish a fire camping ground for the automobile travel that passes through here in summer. The committee in charge is making encouraging reports as to the feasibility of procuring a desirable spot and financing the expense attached to the running of the auto camping park.

Miss Effie R. Hawkins of the State Teachers' College at San Jose addressed the Parent-Teacher Association at Machado School, Parkside Valley, last Friday. Miss Hawkins spoke on "The Girl's Home at Ventura. After the lecture the ladies served light refreshments.

The Woman's Civic Club will give a program and dance at the Friendly Inn on Washington's birthday, February 22. Good music and tasty refreshments are promised.

Six Secure City Permits to Fish In Lake Merritt

Six fishermen today appeared at park department headquarters and received permits to fish in Lake Merritt following publication of notice yesterday that fish were running into the lake.

"We may have a vast fleet in the lake this summer," says Harry Veet, secretary of the Park board. "All indications point to it. Nobody can fish in Lake Merritt without a permit, but we are receiving dozens of inquiries. The lake has always had a choice collection of suckers and other non-edible fish, but now we expect the lake to be twice as popular as ever."

Grand Master to Visit Sequoia Lodge

Sequoia Lodge No. 349, F. & A. M., will be visited tonight by Grand Master William A. Sherman. This is the first visit made by Sherman to Sequoia Lodge since his election last fall, and the evening will be devoted entirely to the reception of the grand master, no other work being done. In addition to the regular ceremonies attending the reception Sherman will deliver a special message to the members of the Sequoia Lodge. It is expected that there will be a large attendance.

RECREATIONAL FUND DRIVE IS EXTENDED MAR. 1

Money Sought in Piedmont for Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls and Bluebirds.

PIEDMONT, Feb. 20.—The several boards directing the social and recreational activities among the young people of Piedmont, including the Boy Scouts, the Boy Pioneers, the Camp Fire Girls and the Bluebirds, are conducting a drive to raise funds with which to carry on the work of those organizations during the year.

The amount asked for is $7650, and the budget committee, consisting of James Tyson, Mrs. Mary B. Alexander and F. E. Hothorn, has circulated the city of Piedmont and sent pledge cards to all citizens in an effort to raise this amount before the expiration of the drive.

The drive was to have closed on February 20, but the pledges have been coming in slowly, so pledges for a total of 2771 have been received to date. The committee has extended the time to March 1.

Wife Asks Divorce After Twenty Years

Asking to be awarded all the community property consisting of the home at 1414 Chestnut street and 1000 in Decoto, Mrs. Jeanne M. de Berna has filed suit for divorce against Carlos F. de Berna. The wife alleges cruelty, declaring that her husband frequently flew into orcs when she would strike or scold her or threaten to kill her. They have a son, Frederick, aged 19, and they were married in Alameda, November 28, 1901.

Petition Against Zoning Is Filed

ALAMEDA, Feb. 20.—A supplementary petition containing the was filed today with William Barco, city clerk, to be added to the original petition against the adoption of the new zoning ordinance. The original petition was filed by Andre Fourchy and contained 1800 names. Fourchy is secretary of the Civil Rights League of Alameda, a number of which are opposed to the proposed ordinance.

Says Love Needs Financial Backing

Not until this has been achieved should a young man of the present day take unto himself a bride, says Dr. Baldwin Woods, dean of the southern branch summer school at the university and member of the Berkeley engineering faculty. "Love's own sweet dream can flourish more readily when there's a 'sufficient' financial backing," says the professor in explanation.

RABBIS ACCUSED OF PROHIBITION LAW VIOLATION

Two Jewish Divines Taken In Custody and Placed Under $1000 Bail.

Two Jewish rabbis were arrested last night for alleged violation of the prohibition laws, and are at liberty today on bail of $1000 each. They are Rabbi Max Kaplan, 30, 14 Linden street, and Rabbi Rabin Baer, 54, 1023 Fourteenth street, who has a synagogue at Ninth and West streets.

They were arrested by J. H. Vail and Edward Bennett, prohibition enforcement officers of San Francisco. Rabbi Kaplan was taken into custody just outside the home of Rabbi Baer. He was in his automobile, which, according to the prohibition men, also contained fifteen gallons of wine. Vail took him to the city prison and Bennett entered the home of Rabbi Baer and searched the premises, arrested the owner and, according to his report, confiscated seven fifty-gallon barrels of wine.

Both men claimed that the wine was for sacramental purposes. When booked at the city prison, Kaplan gave his occupation as a junk dealer. He is said to be a duly ordained rabbi, but has no synagogue at the present time.

MASONS CONDUCT PRICE FUNERAL

Funeral services for Wallace C. Price were held today from the family home at 2021 Twenty-fourth avenue, Oakland, under the auspices of Oakland Masonic Lodge. Interment was in Mountain View cemetery. The services were participated in by Live Oak Lodge, No. 61, Oakland Chapter No. 36, R. A. M., and Oakland Pyramid No. 2, A. E. O. S., of which Price was one of the organizers and the first toparch. During his lifetime he was active in Masonic work, having been a past high priest of Oakland Chapter R. A. M., and past patron of the Eastern Star.

Coming to California from Iowa, his native state, as a boy, Price was for nearly half a century a resident of Oakland and San Francisco, and engaged for most of the period in the commission business, long as head of the firm of W. C. Price & Co. at 106 Clay street, San Francisco. Prior to the war he conducted a large commerce with Oriental and European countries.

He was a delegate to the Baltimore convention, at which Woodrow Wilson was nominated.

He is survived by his wife, Helen Wood Price, and eight sons and daughters, Mrs. Ed A. Dalton, V. M. Price, Wallace C. Jr., Louis P. Sterling, Hattie Ione and Patricia Price and Mrs. H. M. Price. He was 65 years old at the time of his sudden death, which occurred Sunday.

FARMER KILLS MAD COYOTE IN KITCHEN

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Feb. 20.—Amos Davis, a rancher living near Vernon, fifty miles from here, killed a rabid coyote in the kitchen of his ranch home after the animal had attempted to attack his wife.

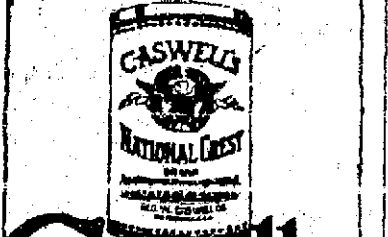

Before reaching the Davis ranch the coyote appeared in the farm yard of the Brazier ranch, 150 yards distant, where it successively attacked a herd of calves, entered a stable where it bit four horses, and raided a pig pen, biting ten pigs. Before the animal left the Brazier ranch it snapped the heads off of eighteen chickens.

MEMEL STORM BREAKS.

The quiet in Memel was the calm before the storm. A month or more ago Europe viewed the situation with alarm, France and Britain sent warships to the port, and the world waited for the news of battle. Then the diplomats and the commissioners stepped in and the impression gained ground that Lithuania and Poland would settle their differences in conference.

The League of Nations has been holding Memel as neutral territory pending final disposition. Memel is a port, the only one for Lithuania and a most important one for Poland. That is why Lithuania, tiring of waiting for the League, marched in and took the place and the first crisis was precipitated. Then the conference was called but the armies were not sent home. A Polish force marching toward the neutral zone has encountered a Lithuanian force and, the despatches say, a battle has taken place.

Before the conference could finish its deliberation the military leaders transferred the issue from the field of debate to that of battle.
Lithuania has appealed to the League of Nations for action. The Poles, Lithuanians say, have invaded neutral territory.

Whether it be settled in ways of war or peace the problem is a knotty one. If the territory is in fact neutral, the Poles are doing no more in invading it than Lithuania did a short time ago. The League will have to give the port to Lithuania or Poland, or keep it as it is under the League's protection. As first in-vader Lithuania is claiming a priority in rights and is disputing with arms and arguments the propriety of Poland's following the example she set. The clash between the two armies is one which will keep the League of Nations busy for many months to come.

CAR RECORDS BROKEN.

Never in history did all signs more perfectly agree in indicating heavy demands for months to come upon the freight moving facilities of the railways than they do now, says Railroad Age. January, usually a month of the smallest freight business, bids fair to break all records, even those of March, in the highest previous years. The situation is without precedent.

Since the middle of October freight car loadings have been larger than ever before in the same period. A significant comparison is that between January, 1920, and January, 1923. In the earlier year an eight weeks coal strike had just ceased and the demands were abnormally large, the business exceeding that of any previous period. For the three weeks ending January 22, 1920, the total number of cars loaded with freight was 2,448,722. For the three weeks ending January 22, 1923, the number was 2,609,993.

In the face of these facts the car shortage has declined. On October 31, 1922, it stood at 175,523 cars, while on January 26, 1923, it was 46,269 cars. Shippers who have freight to ship within the next few months and who can ship it now are advised to "load cars heavily and ship now." The decline of the shortage, with the varied demands of localities, has meant that in some sections there have been surplus cars. The freight business usually begins to increase in March and continues to increase from then on. In January it broke all records and in February it mounted still higher. March is only a few days off and the indications are that the greatest freight handling year of the country is in sight.

Marysville's campaign for a $400,000 hotel has been brought to a successful close and a parade and celebration are to be held. The parade of tourists and others who will journey over the rail lines and highways after the place is built will prove to the citizens who subscribed to the fund that enterprise has its rewards.

KEEP THE U. OF C. INTACT.

Efforts to destroy the efficiency of the University of California by dividing it between northern and southern California have not proved as successful as proponents of hyphenated education wished. The recent meeting of the regents of the university at Los Angeles brought out no definite steps toward the division, although it was heralded by wire that the inauguration of the three-year course for the southern California branch had been decided upon.
News of a different sort is now received, in effect that no action was taken by the regents in the matter for the simple reason that they have no jurisdiction. The question of the third course must go to the legislature for decision, as also must the proposal to transplant part of the university in the southland.

It must be admitted that for "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain" the south part of the state is peculiar. The three-year course is just a step toward accomplishing the southern California idea of division. If a three-year series of studies can be introduced, then a four-year term will be the next move; then would follow the "over the top" for fifty-fifty.

When the legislature takes the matter of the three-year course up, as it probably will, its members might first ask themselves the question "Why?"
Do the great colleges of the East allow themselves to be jugged for sectionalism, north or south or east or west? The University of California represents the whole state, not a part of it. One might as well ask to have half of the capital at Sacramento transferred to Los Angeles. The University, in all its long years of well-earned recognition, has stood as a conspicuous center of educational progress.
It is the duty of the legislature to let it so remain.

Archy Collaborates

We were sitting drowsily before our typewriter a few minutes ago, trying to beat some paragraphs into shape. As we stared with half-shut eyes at the paper before us Archy appeared on the carriage of the typewriter and peeped at us. At any rate, we will hope and assume it was Archy.

For a moment he hesitated. We haven't seen him face to face in months and we supposed he was overcome with a natural embarrassment. As he observed that we were at the point of going to sleep, however, he evidently decided that we were not in a dangerous mood. He waved a couple of legs gayly at us and came closer. In fact, he walked deliberately to the little arrow that indicates how far the machine has to go before the bell rings. There he seated himself comfortably.

Then a surprising thing happened. Never in all our experience with him, have we heard Archy speak aloud. But suddenly we were conscious of the fact that he was talking. His voice was high and thin.

"Boss," he said, "do you want a plot?"

"Always," we answered.
"I'll give you one," he continued.
"And you can make a play or a novel or something out of it. I'm afraid it would seem a little personal coming from me. But you could do it all right and get away with it."

"Get off the typewriter," we told him, "and we will write it as you dictate." So the little fellow came and perched himself on our knee.
He sat there, gesticulating freely,
while we beat the keys obediently.
Here is the result of the collaboration, as far as it has gone:

Clarence Rickels was a drug clerk employed in a small-town pharmacy forty-five years ago. He was a particularly wide-awake and ambitious young drug clerk, but he could find no method of expressing himself in his trade.

Although Clarence was not a licensed pharmacist, the old man who ran the store was careless and allowed Clarence to mix most of the prescriptions. (This was in the days when drug stores sold drugs.)
So it happened that one day, when Clarence was fooling with certain powders, he dropped several kinds on the old wooden counter where he did his work.

The place was always overrun with cockroaches, in spite of everything that Clarence and his employer could do to get rid of them.
So it was not strange that the cockroaches walked through that little pile of spilled powders that Clarence had swept neatly to one side while he worked. What was strange was the fact that neither of the cockroaches had gone more than a few steps before walking through the powder before symptoms of disease became evident. In less than a minute both cockroaches lay stark and dead on the wooden counter.

Clarence was a wide-awake young man. He knew there was no really efficient roach poison to be had for any price. Yet here he had stumbled upon a combination of drugs which had an immediate and deadly effect upon the insects.
He analyzed the mixture of powders and noted its components and the proportions.

Six months later Rickels' Rapid Roach Food was a commercial fact.
Within a year Clarence was the proprietor of a large concern engaged in the manufacture of it. In five years he had laid the foundation of a substantial fortune.

He moved to New York, married a young society woman and became the father of a boy and a girl.
Rickels' Rapid Roach Food was advertised in every magazine and newspaper in the country; from every billboard the name stared at the passerby; little frame houses near railroad tracks were painted with it; better still, there was a can of it in every pantry in the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rickels became enormously rich. They owned at least three houses that were boarded up eleven months every year. In spite of Mr. Rick-els' peculiar personality and his method of making money, he and his wife were accepted everywhere.

The son and the daughter went to the best schools there were. Later the son went to a large college in a suburb of Boston and the daughter to a similar institution in New York. Both of them were week by week in the picture supplements of the Sunday papers.
The Rickelses were enormously rich.

Which brings us right down to the present day and introduces the comic.

There were no other Rickels in the Social Register, or even in the telephone book. There were no other Roach Foods extensively advertised. It was inevitable that the name Rickels should be inalien-ably tied up in everybody's mind with the idea of roach food, even in most cases Rapid Roach Food.
The world was full of envious, slip-tongued people who kept the ignominious its forever vivid.

Wherever Barbara and Vincent—so their mother had named them—went they were met with references to roaches. At college Vincent was known as "Roach" Rickels, while the younger set of New York had taken to calling Barbara "Rapid."
Nor was Mrs. Rickels immune. Although her friends were less outspoken, still she heard whispers constantly that brought the tears to her eyes, kind eyes.

Only Clarence Rickels—Old
Roach—was unharmed by the comedy. He had invented the roach food and he had made his fortune out of it. He was not ashamed of it. They could say what they pleased. In fact, he was a little proud of his fame.

EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

Christian Science Monitor: "Somewhat hard it is to agree unequivocally with the sentiment expressed the other day by Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, president of Amherst College, that the college professors should be a dreamer, and that one of the great dangers of the present time is his desire to be thought a man of common sense. As it is commonly regarded, and it is difficult not to believe correctly, an important purpose of the college course today is to produce men of greater common sense."

Medford Mail-Tribune: This is the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, who possessed not consequence. Lincoln was homely and human, and a coiner of apt philosophic epigrams, the most quoted one being, "You can fool part of the people part of the time, but you can't fool all the people all the time." His appraisal of the ways of the rank and file is subject to revision, as of late years the masses have shown signs of a pas-definitely."

Washington Post: "Now comes a spiritualist with the assertion that big business men are needed in heaven and that up there men of affairs on earth will have full opportunity to continue business activities. This is interesting to worshippers of Mammon and to men centered heart and soul in business, but rather startling to those who have come to believe in heaven as a place of abode where everything runs without a hitch and in perfect harmony. Well, in these days any old theory can be foisted upon some branch of the human tribe."

The Chinese New Year's celebration, now in progress, includes the custom of paying up debts and forgiving enemies. On the face of it, the Chinese plan has our institution of New Year's resolutions beaten every way, no matter how the old resolutions may be.—Palo Alto Times.

It was no worse for the power companies to spend money to defect the act than for the interests who backed the act to spend money in an effort to put it over. Any group of business men who saw their investments threatened would have done the same. The surprise is in the amount of money that was spent.—Watsonville Register.

A while ago an Ohio church held a "Quiet Day" for women. It was such a novelty that the women didn't know what to make of it, but the men said it was simply grand and that they would have to boost the preacher's salary if he kept on thinking up such things.—

It becomes day by day more and more evident that there is politics as well as economics in the scrap between the Board of Control and the school department and that it is therefore a good fight for non-political organizations to keep out of.—Chico Enterprise.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE BURIED TALENT.
That man's a failure
Who believes
He need not give
As he receives.

For every man
The world has need;
Who knows the way
Must take the lead.

Who has the power
To set things right.
If he be true,
Must share the fight.

Life of the stronger
Toller asks
That he shall bear
The heavier tasks.

The mind with knowledge Richly graced
Must give it out
Or it is waste.

The flag of life
Are never furled,
Who can and won't Betray the world.

TRUTH BEATS FICTION.

An Oklahoma man, part Cherokee Indian, having spent 22 years in jail for a murder he did not commit, has been released to find himself almost a millionaire. His release came when one of the chief witnesses against him admitted that her own husband had committed the crime.

There is plenty of material for the dramatist in this story. The woman side of it alone would make a great play. The innocent victim's psychology would provide many interesting situations. Taken together, they would provide all the "meat" any writer needs. But there are not so far novel.

There is, however, one element in this story which does not usually appear. It is the manner in which the community is making amends for its mistake.

BUILDERS AND DESTROYERS.

Offhand we can rattle off the names of at least a dozen military leaders who won fame by destroying life and property in past wars.
But what do we know about Edward Jenner, England's native country, has been honoring the 100th anniversary of his death. Jenner was the physician who discovered how to prevent smallpox by vaccination.

This discovery, according to many scientists, has saved probably a thousand lives to every life destroyed in the last century by war. Remember his name, and without this discovery some of us might be dead now.—Columbia Record.

High Authority.
"Upon the whole, for eight years
there has been only one great statesman, one great diplomat, one great citizen—Lloyd George."

"He does."—Paris Tribune.

SODIUM CITRATE

Citrate of soda was formerly used in the modification of cow's milk for infant feeding. The fashion in milk modification changes oftener than the fashion in skirts.
So milk of magnesia, lime water and cereal waters successively came into use instead of sodium citrate. I mention this to show how harmless is this old domestic medicine. A whole ounce of it swallowed at one dose acts merely as a dose of salts; in fact, the French formerly advocated the use of citrate of soda as a saline laxative.

Sodium citrate in the medicine cupboard serves two purposes.
Suppose some member of the family has a young boil or a runaround or some such infection and is fond of gambling, hence unwilling to seek medical attention.

Mrs. Gamp drops in and has a look at the sore. She immediately recalls a number of identical cases in which she and Mrs. Harris were consulted in the nick of time and advised poulticing when some wicked doctor was planning to cut off the poor boy's arm; finally they saved all but three of the boy's fingers.

The question arises—shall we poultice the sore place? And the answer depends on how many fingers we are prepared to sacrifice for the pleasure of defeating the doctor.

Don't apply a poultice on any such inflamed or sore place unless you wish to favor suppuration or abscess formation. If you hope to stay the progress of the inflammation and perhaps overcome it before the affected tissues are quite destroyed, resort to large hot moist dressings rendered antiseptic only when some septic or purulent discharge occurs from the sore or lesion. Such dressings are clean substitutes for the uncleanly poultice and they give no encouragement to the germs of inflammation, suppuration or blood poisoning.
The dressing may be kept moistened with a solution which really "draws" much more effectively than any kind of poultice.
That solution is one of common salt and citrate of soda, two heaping teaspoonfuls of salt and two heaping teaspoonfuls of citrate of soda in a quart of boiled water.
This should be kept hot and poured upon the large thick gauze (cheesecloth) dressing every hour or two, using enough to keep the dressing constantly moist, for the dressing is of no value when it becomes dry.
Such a dressing even for one night or day often overcomes a threatening pus infection. It favors drainage; that is all the "drawing" that can happen anyhow.

If the skin is broken or there is any discharge from the wound or lesion, the dressing may be rendered antiseptic by adding a heaping teaspoonful of boric acid to the solution. The only purpose an antiseptic can serve in a dressing is the discouragement of multiplication of germs in the dressing.
This prevents odor in some cases and the spread of pus infections to other persons in any case. No antiseptic substance or germicidal substance in a dressing can have any beneficial effect upon the inflamatory or infective process in the wound or lesion under treatment.
It is childish to imagine that "antiseptic" salves or ointments externally applied have the slightest influence upon inflammatory or septic conditions in the tissues of the body.

Such a hot, moist compress may be covered with waxed paper, oiled silk or rubber tissue to keep the clothing dry if the patient is up and about.

BERKELEY TICKET BEING FRAMED FOR MAY POLLS

F. D. Stringham Is Declared Slated for Mayoralty; Other Candidates.

BERKELEY, Feb. 20.—Steps toward the formal naming of an "official" ticket which will represent the city manager campaign forces in the first election to be held under the new form of government in Berkeley May 1 were taken last night at a meeting at the Hotel Whitecroft.
Frank D. Stringham, former Berkeley city attorney, stepped down from his position as chairman of the organization in favor of E. Clarence Holmes, rumored as one of the candidates for the position of city manager. Stringham is declared to be slated for the mayorally nomination of the city manager body and his removal to the "franks" of workers is given indication of this development.

Robert Sprout, controller of the University of California, is known to have been the first choice of the city manager organization for mayor, but declined to accept the nomination. Others mentioned in the race are E.
C. Bradley, brother-in-law of the late Franklin K. Lane; Lester Hink, Berkeley merchant; Councilman
Carl Bartlett and Mayor Louis Bartlett.
With the selection of Holmes as head of the new campaign organization, Mrs. Douglas Rose was named as secretary, and Lester Hink as treasurer. Holmes was empowered to appoint an executive committee of thirty-five persons which will make a formal canvass of the city for candidates and report on the qualifications of the men advanced for municipal office.
Three hundred notices were issued for last night's meeting which brought response from about one-third of those asked to be present.
The committee of thirty-five is expected to report back to the central body within the next forty night. Under the provisions of the city charter first nomination papers can be filed forty-five days previous to the election, and not later than thirty days before the date set for balloting.

It's a Hot Cereal in a jiffy

For breakfast tomorrow you can have a real hot whole-wheat porridge—and it will take but a few minutes to prepare.
Just put two Shredded Wheat Biscuits in a small saucepan—add salt and enough water to cover the bottom of the pan; stir and boil until thick. Then serve with milk or cream.
Or, to retain the crispness of the oven-baked shreds of whole wheat, merely pour hot milk or cream over the biscuits.
Either way you'll find Shredded Wheat a nourishing, bracing set-up for the day ahead.
Shredded Wheat is 100% whole wheat, ready-cooked and ready-to-eat. A perfect, delicious food for any meal of the day. Serve it simply with milk or cream, or topped with berries or fruits. Contains all the bean you need to stimulate bowel movement. It is salt-free and un-sweetened—you season it to your taste.
Tricon is the Shredded Wheat Cracker
—a real whole-wheat toast. Try it with butter, soft cheese or marmalade.

CONCERNING THAT "MILLION FOR MILLS"—This picture is especially timely because of the Mills College Endowment Fund Campaign which is now going on. The photo is of historic Mills Hall, the central building of Mills College, erected in 1870 when Mills College was transferred from Benicia to its present location in Oakland. Reception rooms in Mills Hall are furnished in the period of the establishment of the college.

Long Wanted Frock

(No. 1649)

Only 1 1/2 yards of 36-inch material is required to complete the frock in the 4-year size that this smart little maiden is wearing. The pattern cuts in sizes 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. The transfer pattern No. 622, which comes in blue only, is 15 cents extra.

The sleeves of this dress are cut in one with the back and side front making the garment an extremely simple one to make. The sash ends which tie in a saucy bow at the back extend from the front panel.

Serge, for warmth, velvet or crepe for best and gingham or linen for many tubbings are the materials suggested for this style. If lined at 50 cents per yard were selected the completed dress would cost about $1.00.

Uncle Wiggily

Howard R. Girls

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SNOWBALLS.

"Uncle Wiggily! Uncle Wiggily! I'm sorry, but you'll have to get up early this morning!" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy to the bunny rabbit gentleman.

"Get up early? What for? Is my hollow stump bungalow on fire?" asked Mr. Longears, quickly springing from his bed.

"No, I'm thankful to say it isn't that," said the muskrat lady housekeeper. "But there has been a big snow storm and you'll have to shovel off the sidewalk."

"Oh, I don't mind that!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. So he gave his pink nose a twinkle, dressed and, after a cup of hot carrot coffee, he went out to shovel the snow.

The bunny rabbit gentleman was toting big masses of snow, first to one side and then to the other—clearing a path so the animal boys and girls could go to school, when all of a sudden, there sounded some barks, growls and whines and a voice called:

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily, throw me a snowball!"

"And throw me one, too!" begged another voice.

The bunny rabbit gentleman looked around and saw Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the two puppy dog boys, who were on their way to recite their lessons to the Lady Mouse teacher in the hollow stump school.

"What is it you want me to do?" asked Uncle Wiggily, leaning on his shovel to take a little rest.

"Throw a snowball as far as you can throw it," begged Jackie, "and I'll race after it and bring it back. I can do it quicker than Peetie."

"No, you can't, either!" barked Peetie. "Please throw a snowball for me to run after, Uncle Wiggily."

"I'll throw one for each of you," said the bunny rabbit gentleman.

In his paws he molded a round, white snowball and tossed it as far away as he could.

"That's for Peetie," he said, and after it rolled Peetie, his paws scattering the snow on either side and his tail making little dots and dashes in the drifts.

"There, I'd like to see you run after a snowball any farther and any faster than I did, Jackie," panted Peetie, as he came back to where Uncle Wiggily was shoveling the walk.

"You wait until I have my turn," spoke Jackie.

"Well, where's the snowball? I threw for you to bring back, Peetie?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"There it is," and the little puppy dropped a small wad of snow from his mouth.

"What's this? What's this?" cried Uncle Wiggily, pretending to be surprised. "That isn't the snowball I threw! I tossed away a big one and you bring me back a little one, Peetie."

"Well, it's now—it melted in my mouth," explained Peetie.

"Oh, I see," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Well, now it's Jackie's turn to run after a snowball." Once again the bunny rabbit gentleman tossed a wad of snow, and after it rolled Jackie, he dropped his chunk of snow.

"There, I brought back a bigger piece than Peetie did," grunted Jackie, as he dropped his chunk of snow.

so it wouldn't melt so fast, Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes, you did very well," said the rabbit gentleman.

"Toss some more snowballs! Toss some more!" barked Jackie, and Peetie and Uncle Wiggily did until Jackie said:

"No more now! I must finish shoveling my walk and you must run on to school."

"Oh, just one more—throw just one more snowball for each of us!" begged Jackie and Peetie. So Uncle Wiggily made two more giant snowballs and threw them as far as he could. But no sooner had they left his paws than a voice cried:

"Oh, ouchie! Oh, ouchie! On my nose, my nose!" And out from under the bushes where he had been hiding ran the Woolly Wolf. He hoped he could sneak up and nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears, but the snowballs had found him out and banged him on the nose.

"Oh, ho! Let's throw more snowballs at him!" cried Jackie and Peetie. And they did, making the bad chap run far away so he couldn't get Uncle Wiggily.

Taking Stock

Bill Spivvins—
Comes unto my door—
I ask him in—
And Bill is tired of being poor—
The butter on his bread is thin—
He says his life is filled with trouble—
Each added day his cares seem double—
And he sits at my glowing grate—
Just to relate—
The things that rise to taunt him—
But after sifting out the chaff—
I have to laugh—
For well I know the things that haunt him—Off bare their bones at each man's door—
And bring dismay—
Save but to those whose hearts beat strong—
But still I hear Bill to the end—
He is my friend—
Then—thinking—walk around the block—
And see a merchant taking stock—
And go within—
He tells me that one day each year—
He takes invoice of everything—
To see what goods of his took wing—
For other's self—
And those that seemed to like their berth—
Upon the shelf—
And then to balance all to tell—How well—
He's getting on in Life's great game—
I thanked him and I went my way—
And as I walked back down the block—
I thought that each man should take stock—
Here's my invoice—
Such wealth just makes my heart rejoice—
I've got a wife—just one for life—
Who is my queen—
And she is just as dear to me—today—
As on that day—when just nineteen—
She took my hand and whispered—yes—
I've got a boy with spirit strong—
And in his heart there is a song—
That keeps him clean—
I've got a girl with mother heart—
Who loves me well—
The joy her baby brings to me—
No words can tell—
I've got a dog who loves me, too—
And licks my hand—
I've got a roof to shelter me—
A holding strand—that keeps us all together—
And though the world would call me poor—
Still, no man at my cottage door—
Pleads there in vain—
So that is all—it may seem small—
Wife—children—baby girl—and dog—
Good health and peace of mind—
A happy heart—some friends, that's true—
Oh, man of wealth—
What more have you?

Child's History of the HUMAN DANCE

By BARNUM COFFMAN

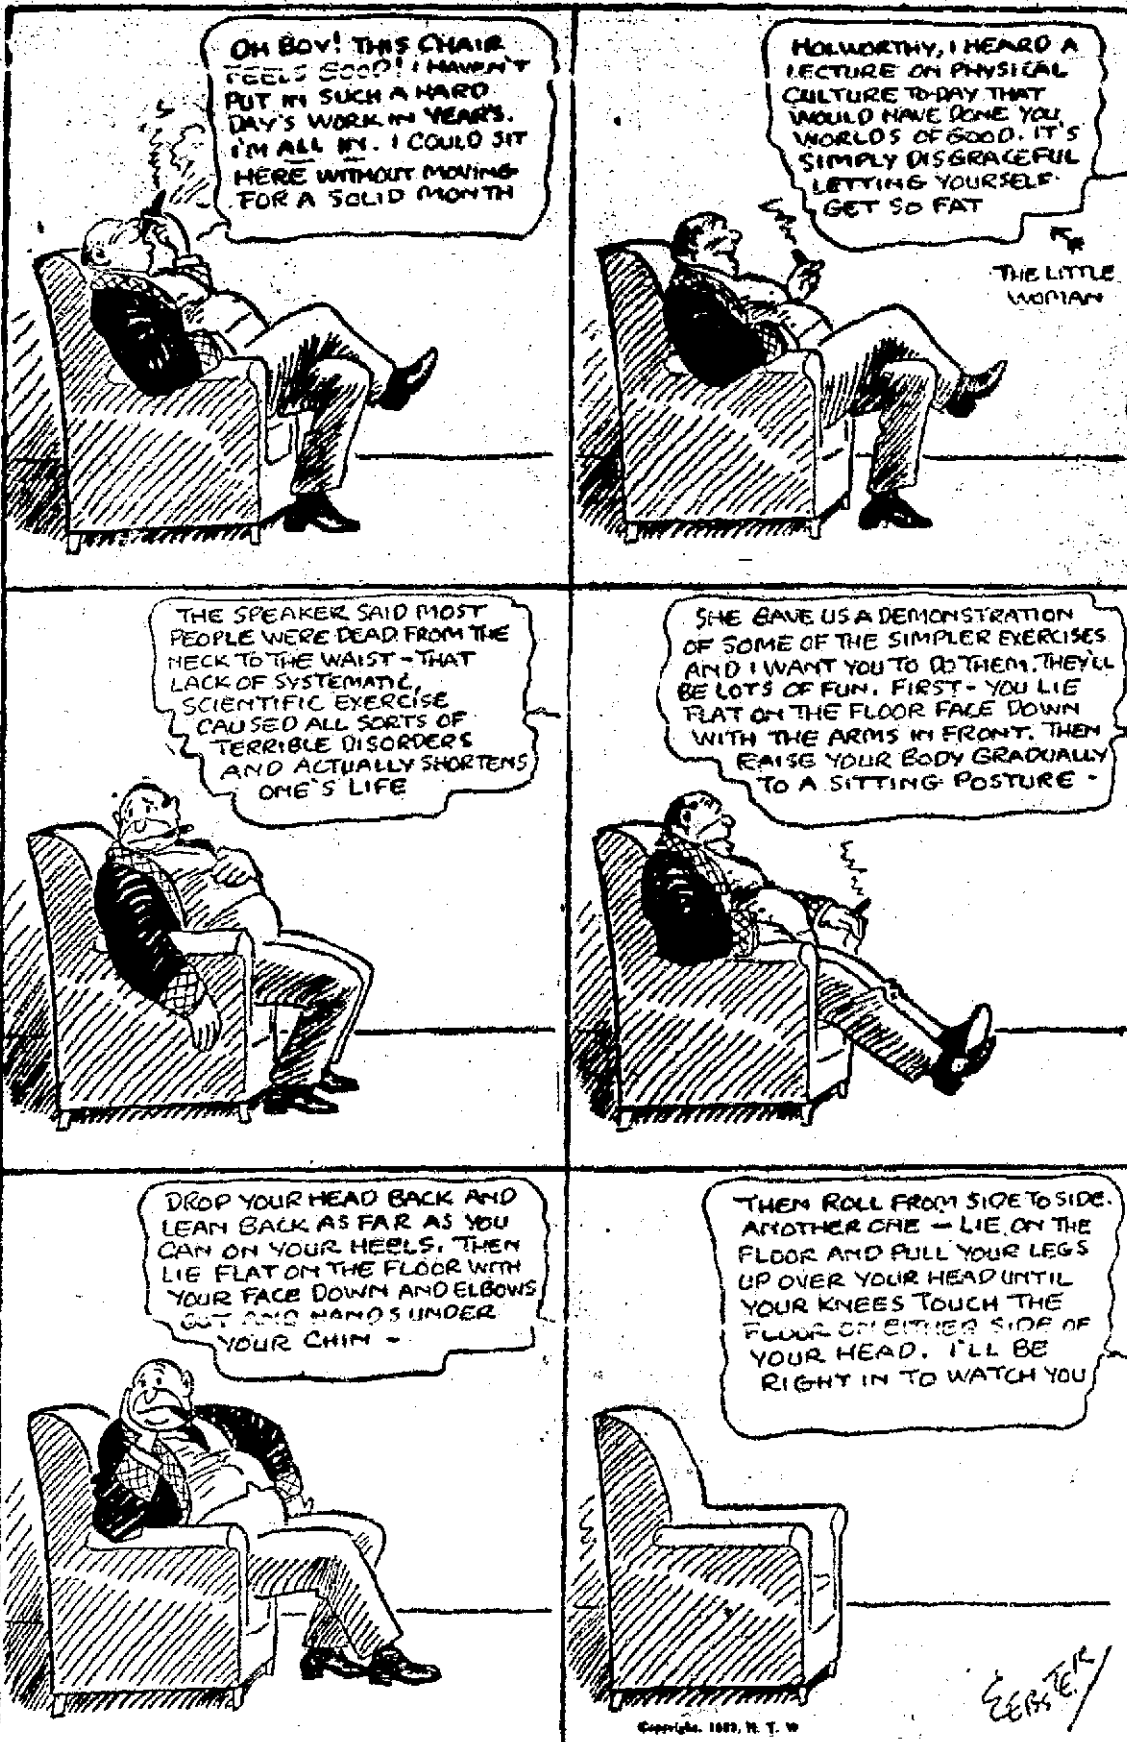

The idea of dancing goes far back in the history of the human race. We have reason to believe that men of the Stone Age danced to the music of hollow-log drums. We know there was much dancing in Egypt in Greece, in Rome. Even the American Indians were in the habit of dancing.

During the Middle Ages, dancing was at the height of fashion. Some persons did hardly anything but dance, eat and sleep. They danced dressed up as "wild men," they wore only fuzzy, skin-tight garments. Everyone was anxious to certain ugly "Jazz" steps of the present time (which I hope you will never dance). One dance which was well liked was the round dance. The men and women formed in a circle, hand in hand. To the music of flute, drum or viola they danced certain steps. Each dancer, first one person, then another, sang a verse of a song. All joined in the chorus. At weddings, the dance divided into couples, holding each other lightly by the hand. Each man bore a lighted torch. As they moved about, they tried to burn one another's fingers.

PUBLIC SERVICE DYNAMOS.

Many luncheon clubs, started in the interests of good fellowship, have evolved into community service institutions of first rank.

Rotary is fellowship plus. The plus is the finest thing in modern life—goodwill interpreted by deeds. It is something more than fine feeling, emotion or sentiment. It is dynamic energy that fuses all forms of capital, brains, heart, hands, money into humanity's service.

A year ago or more a Rotary Club in Elyria, Ohio, searched out every crippled child in Elyria county and brought them to the number of 129, to a huge clinic. Each malformed little sufferer was thoroughly charted and mapped, passing in turn from the hands of specialists in eye, ear, nose and throat, dentists, physicians and surgeons, both general and orthopedic. X-ray pictures were also taken where needed. The charts which make up the story of each case, will prove invaluable to the children and their parents in hastening cure or alleviating pain. The Rotarians lost a day from business but they started something. The gospel of relief for the crippled child has begun to spread throughout Ohio and there may evolve a national movement following this example of tender philanthropy.

This is elemental religion; the kind that thrills, the kind we can all understand and appreciate. Would that we were all adult Boy Scouts who count a day lost that does not see some service deed accomplished!

SPIDERS.

Spiders do things that people can't. Such as walking on walls and ceilings.

And eating a hairy meal of flies Without shaking their own feelings.

1. O they are only insects And not human beings, alas, But they certainly can weave a spider web.

2. As they'd went to a sewing class.

3. They weave it up in some corner And set in the middle and spy. Being pretty smart on the spider But a dandy trick on the fly.

4. O pity the innocent vickitiks O think of their heart rendering cries.

5. But the spider is just acting natural, And besides, the heck with flies.

6. A girl squeals when she sees a spider.

7. She don't think it's any attraction, And tho the spider is just as scared as the girl.

8. That don't give either any satisfaction.

10. When they came to the Giant's cave, the King Giant came out to meet them. "You just came along in time!" the Giant said. "We were just going to have ice cream cones and chocolate cake lunch, so you must come in and have some!"

11. And of course, as the Knight and his wife and little boy and Raggedy Andy were very fond of ice cream cones and chocolate cake they went into the Giant's cave and had a lovely time.

12. "Where is the Boliver?" Raggedy Andy asked the Giant.

13. "The Boliver and the Snarlyboodle both went to the Magical Castle," the Giant replied. "You told them so many nice things about the wonderful castle they both decided they wanted to go there and live!"

14. "That is very nice!" Raggedy Andy said. "For the Boliver and the Snarlyboodle can play with the Dragon and have lots of fun!"

15. So when they had finished eating, they told the Giant good bye and the Magical Wooden Sword carried the Knight and Raggedy Andy and pulled the wagon with Mrs. Knight and Willie through away they went.

WHEN the Knight came out of his house with his wife and little boy, Raggedy Andy saw right away that all of them could not ride upon his magical wooden sword back to the wonderful castle. "My goodness!" he said, "it will take us a long, long time to walk back there and your little boy and your wife will get very tired!"

"Then perhaps you and I had better ride upon the magical wooden sword to the castle and send the wooden sword back after my wife and little boy," the Knight said to Raggedy Andy.

But the Knight's little boy ran back to the house and came back pulling a wagon. "Now, Willie!" the Knight said to his little boy, "Don't tell you that you can't take a thing with you to the Magical Castle? You won't need that old wagon to play with when you get there, for there are so many much newer things to play with. Take the wagon back to the house!"

But Raggedy Andy said, "Taking the wagon back, Willie, and Raggedy Andy and the wagon to the Magical Wooden Sword. Now,

ALONG MAIN STREET

Work is a sure cure for most ills. The path of duty leads to happiness. A honeymoon ends when household bills begin. Women may be slaves of fashion, but their burdens are light. A lot of people worry because they can't worry other people. Every man is more or less brave. The silence of a woman is more significant than a man's words. A pessimist usually acts as if he really enjoys getting the worst of it. When a woman's gown is a perfect fit, it's considered a perfect fit. Some women look upon their husbands as mere automobile accessories. A reformer is a man who wishes to do away with mud by abolishing rain. The difference between wisdom and money is that wisdom can't be inherited. Never judge a man's sincerity by what he says, but by what he doesn't say. When people look for trouble, their friends are usually too busy to assist in the search. It keeps the average girl guessing to know just how long to keep the young man guessing. It's all right to forgive and forget, but most of us would rather be forgiven than forgotten. People who don't amount to much very seldom succeed in accepting the fact to themselves. Some people can work without getting tired, while many others can get tired without working. A man who does things is admired, unless he happens to be numbered among the things he has done.

Home is a place where some people make life comfortable. A thoughtless person usually thinks a great deal of himself. A reckless automobile driver merely a "jay walker" on wheels. Sweet cheer that has gone about half way to the bad isn't half bad. Not all the dumbbells are found hanging on a rack in a gymnasium. Some women would rather have instep. Women may have small mouths, but they can hold a bunch of clothespins. The girl who never had a pre-natal check-up is bound to have a number of men. A lot of married men are perfectly satisfied to be treated like one of the family. The mother of a large family probably wonders whether she is mother or a referee. Women are said to be too wet for housework, and the men, not strong for it, either. When a man starts out to make a fool of himself he always fills plenty of tools handy. Success late in life expands at waist line. Early in life it men expands at the hat band. Women are decidedly out of place if they can't squeak a few tears at a moment's notice. Physicians say the booting spirits are much worse for the night than real Kentucky Scotch. Some women carry themselves in parking problems, always win someone who will leave a dollar bill. Some women carry themselves in finding money in their purses, always find it. Some women carry themselves in how many times they can say "I love you."

Idle Woman Grows Too Fat and Dull

Dorothy Dix

The Best Way to Stay Youthful Is to Have An Absorbing Lifework

WHY is it that the great majority of women feel themselves so injured and put upon by fate when they have to do any useful work?

The woman who has to do her own housework considers that the early Christian martyrs had nothing on her in hardship. The woman who has to be her own nursemaid weeps tears of self-pity. She who makes her own frocks believes that the hand of affliction is laid heavily on her, while all the multitude of women who earn their own bread and butter bewail the hardships of their lot, and speak of themselves as "poor working women."

SOMEHOW, every woman regards it as her constitutional right to be born in a limousine, with a gold spoon in her mouth, and when she finds out that she didn't even inherit a tin Lizzie, and that she has to hustle out and work for her living, it gives her a grudge that she never gets over.

NOT only do women hold that it is a terrible misfortune for them to have to work, but they have succeeded in impressing this point of view on the world. Every man's ambition is to support the woman he loves in absolute idleness, and his ideal of the perfect husband, and father is the man who turns his womanhood into lazy parasites.

THE dearest desire of all parents is to bring their girls up in idleness, and utter ignorance of how to do any sort of labor, and to this end father will work himself to death to keep Mamie from having to get a job, and mother will toil in the kitchen so that Mamie may lie on a couch and read a novel in the parlor. Parents consider no sacrifice of themselves too great to make to protect their daughters from having to work, and they never cease to sigh over with sympathy for their poor, persecuted daughters whom a malign destiny forces to earn money instead of devoting all of their time to spending it.

IN REALITY, instead of work being a curse to a woman it is her greatest blessing, for the slightest observation will show that the busiest women are the happiest, youngest and healthiest women, and that it is the idle women who are the sickly, neurotic women who fill sanatoriums and enrich doctors, and keep the divorce mill busy.

NO system of gymnastics on earth will do so much to preserve a willowy figure as making beds and sweeping floors. Nothing keeps the body well and strong and its life having a mind too much absorbed in the race to some goal to take heed of every little indisposition. Nothing keeps one young like some vital interest, some absorbing occupation. Business and professional women—working women—nearly always look ten years younger than their idle sisters, and they have that alert, alive look that no beauty parlor can give. It is the lazy, indolent, stall-fed women with nothing to do and nothing to think about but tea, and tidbits, and dinner who get fat, and dull, and lousy before their time.

WOMEN need work to keep them healthy, and young, and they need work to keep them out of mischief, for, because women are restless and nervous and highly strung, Satan finds more jobs for their idle hands to do than he ever does for men. You never hear of a woman who has her cook, and wash and sew for a household of kids and gets up and gets her husband's breakfast at 6 o'clock, discovering that the man to whom she is married is not her soul mate, or cloping with one she thinks is her affinity. You never hear of women who are working, shoulder to shoulder with their husbands trying to get a start in the world, worrying themselves into nervous prostration over whether their husbands have ceased to love them or not.

IT is the idle women who make themselves and everybody else miserable, victimizing their hearts and their husband's hearts. It's the women with nothing to do but amuse themselves who try to put pen into their purposeless lives by sipping strange men and doing compromising things. It's the bored women who gamble and drink and make fools of themselves over movie heroes and matinee idols.

THEREFORE, any man who loves his wife and daughters instead of trying to keep them in idleness should see to it that they have plenty of work to do, the kind of work that is constructive and interesting to a regular human being.

AND why shouldn't a woman work? Why should any woman, who marries a poor young man who has his way to make in the world not be willing to do her part by making him a comfortable home? Heaven knows, cooking is one of the fine arts, and just as absorbingly interesting to one who puts her soul into it as painting a picture, and generally speaking, it pays a lot better. Why isn't it just as much refueling on a woman to lay down on her job as it would be for her husband to be too lazy to work and earn the money to support the home? Why should any intelligent, able-bodied girl consider it any less shameful to be a lazier than for her brother to be one? Why should she consider it any more decent to be a hanger-on of any relative who will support her than for a man to be? Why should she be contented with a life of idleness when she has to make her living instead of gadding about to parties?

THERE is no reason for it except the old tradition that women shouldn't work, and that a woman who has to work has gotten a hard deal in life. And the sooner women get over this and realize that work is their best friend instead of their enemy, the better for them and for the world. DOROTHY DIX.

SKALLER WINS IMMOCENTMENT OF IMMOCENTMENT OF CIVIC LEAGUE

His Action in Accepting Pay to Fight Power Act Approved

A general meeting of the San Francisco Civic League of Improvement Clubs passed a unanimous vote of confidence yesterday in its president, George Skaller, in view of revelations recently made before the State Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures, which showed that Skaller had been on the payroll of the organization opposing the Water and Power Act.

The meeting passed a resolution to the effect that "there had been nothing unethical" about the agreement between John A. Britton and Skaller, whereby Skaller received $2000 to work against the act. The meeting also approved of the $4000 contribution made during the election campaign by the Pacific Gas & Electric Company to the campaign funds of the Civic League.

During the meeting President Skaller temporarily vacated the chair, and made a lengthy address, in which he declared that the agreement between Britton and himself was only made after the Civic League had voted to oppose the Water and Power measure. His response was forthcoming from the opposition.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For Washing Hair

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified coconut oil in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.—Advertisement.

Berkeley City Club Gets Behind Plan to Purchase
Site for Farm Work.

BERKELEY, Feb. 20. — The purchase of a suitable tract of land in Berkeley for the college of agriculture of the University of California in accordance with plans advanced by the university officials will be based upon the legislation by the Berkeley City Club.

This decision was reached by the club following a lengthy discussion of the present situation especially in relation to efforts of the southern branch to secure a full-fledged college in the area.

TWO TRACTS CITED.

"The practical thing to do at this time is to attempt to save the college of agriculture for Berkeley at least," declares Professor W. S. Morgan of the Pacific Unitarian Divinity School, president of the club. "To do this a tract of land is necessary. Two such tracts are available, one the Schmidt tract at Sacramento and Rose streets, and the other the Gill tract on San Pablo avenue in Albany."

"While the money which it was planned to use for this purpose has been stricken from the university's budget together with a request for funds for land expansion at the southern branch, Senator Breed has introduced a bill appropriating money for the purchase of a tract in or near Berkeley."

UNITY HELD NECESSARY.

Action on the part of the City Club follows a report made by a special committee investigating the situation confronting the college of agriculture, this body including Supervisor Redmond C. Staats, Dr. Elwood Mead, Robert Sprout, Perry Tompkins and J. Sweet.

In commenting further on the necessity for action, Professor Morgan says:

"It is hoped that the support of all organizations on both sides of the bay will be given to the Breed bill. The speed, persistency and unanimity with which Southern California has been building up a rival university ought to prove a stimulus to Northern California to preserve at least what it now possesses."

Standard Oil Says Price Fixing Untrue

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20. — Denying charges made against it by Thomas S. Black of the Western Petroleum Company of Chicago were "flagrantly untrue," the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, today filed requests for hearing with the Senate oil investigating committee.

The Standard company declared in its request, made by Harry A. Daugherty, its general attorney, that it desired to produce witnesses to refute the testimony given by Black at the final session of the committee's inquiry into conditions and prices in the industry. In his testimony Black charged the Standard Oil of Indiana, by whom he said he was employed for 22 years, with price fixing.

The Standard of Indiana asserted that the charges made by Black were "manifestly made for the purpose of producing the Standard in the eyes of the public and embarrassing it in the conduct of its business."

PROMISING SQUAD OF ROOKIES TRYING OUT WITH OAKS

COAST LEAGUE CLUBS OPEN TRAINING CAMPS WITH BIGGEST ARRAY OF TALENT IN HISTORY

Howard Brothers Open '23 Season

Thomas Looks Like Foreman Catcher

Mammoth Show On at Myrtle Dale

By BOB SHAND

MYRTLEDALE, CALIF., Feb. 20.—The mammoth Howard Brothers' show opened yesterday afternoon under auspicious conditions and a cloudless sky. The production is the same as last season, "The Training of the Oaks," but the casts is entirely different, but two members of last year's company taking part in the 1923 premiere yesterday. These were Harry Krause, southpaw pitcher by trade and basso profundo by choice, and Peter Read, a youthful catcher who may grab off a regular job for himself now that the famous prima donna, Honus Mitzel, has departed for New Orleans.

Chet Thomas, a leading man with the Oaks 'way back in 1912, has rejoined the company, and was the first man on the stage yesterday. The others present included the famous Howard Brothers "in person" and a set of seven little bushers all anxious to quit their hard work jobs and become useful members of the Oaks with permits to call on Treasurer Herbert McFarlin on the first and fifteenth of every month of the playing season.

Tribune League Tossers

Trying Out With the Club

Pitchers predominate among the rookies with TRIBUNE League tossers being very much in evidence. Murchio, McClung and Wright did their best to win pennants in The TRIBUNE League this year. Wells, from Dunsmuir; Eley, the Tacoma blacksmith, and Wee Harry Krause are the other chuckers who eased their legs below the training table. Berger, catcher for the Calistoga Water Company; Chet Thomas, and Mr. Read are the other gents tossing 'em around on the Myrtle-dale lot.

Every day in every way the squad will grow stronger and stronger. Aspiring ball tossers will drop in daily and the main squad, consisting of last-year's veterans and another battalion of rookies will report on the job next Monday. Walter Malls will be the last to report, the big southpaw having received permission to delay his arrival until March 1st. Walter is coaching a high school team in Sacramento.

Superintendent Howard to Converse With Kremer, Cooper

The Messrs. Ray Kremer, Claude Cooper and Delmar Baker have not as yet signed their names on the dotted line, but they are expected to be up here with the rest of the boys Monday. General Superintendent and Business Manager George Elmer Howard is going down to Oakland Thursday to hold converse with Kremer and Cooper and he says he will have the boys in line before Friday's sun takes one of its well-known dips out of the east. Mr. Howard was doubtful and it is intimated that he might have more luck and perhaps a little more kale were he to leave his northern fastness and talk personally with his future employers. Del is in Oregon.

Outside of that everything in the garden is lovely and the Oaks can't help winning the pennant if they finish with a better percentage than the Seals, Bees, Senators, Indians, Beavers, Tigers and Angels.

And, having seen the boys work out for almost an hour yesterday it is safe to predict that some of them will be with the club four weeks from now, while others will be enjoying home cooking again while the club is on the road.

Greeting Mr. Del Howard with the original query, "What's the Matter With the Oaks?" we were informed that there is not a darn thing the matter with them. Del owns fifty per cent of the world's supply of optimism. Brother Ivan has the other fifty per cent in stock.

One Year Howard Did Not Know

The Names of His Hired Help

Incidentally, Del was all swelled up yesterday because he knew the names of all the young men in baseball uniforms, but that was probably because the squad was very abbreviated. We remember another spring when we lined the boys up for a group picture and then asked Del for their names.

"Search me," replied the big boss. "I never saw half of them before in my life."

And every day some new arrivals greeted Del with requests for uniforms until the boss himself was forced to wear overalls because the supply of uniforms gave out. That was one of the years when Scout Herbie McFarlin was imbued with much ambition and shipped a whole carload of athletes for Foreman Howard to look over.

This season the rookies are being shipped in small consignments in order to give Del and Ivan a chance to get acquainted with them. Many of them will not get fully acquainted, but will last long enough for the Howard Brothers to call 'em by their first name when they see 'em off on the train.

Thomas Is Strong Booster

For the Oaks' Training Camp

The boys like the camp. Chet Thomas declares it is the best training camp he ever saw and Chet has traveled considerably since he left the Oaks ten years ago. And to make the bushers feel thoroughly at home the cook featured pork and beans on the opening luncheon menu and this popular fruit met with a brisk demand. One or two of the boys were bruised a bit in the rush that followed the ringing of the initial luncheon gong, but there were no casualties.

You can't tell a thing about these youngsters until they get the well-known acid test. They are all willing and ambitious and try to get along, and out of the bunch a star may be secured. They are all going to get a fair chance to show what they have before the pruning process starts.

Chet Thomas doesn't look much different from the kid who broke in with the Oaks in the old Freeman's Park days. He gained a world of experience as a world's series figure with the Boston Red Sox and he is not old enough to be classed as "has-been" yet. From his looks Thomas has many, many years of good baseball left in him yet, and it need occasion no surprise if he turns out to be the best catcher in the league. Last season he caught Dutch Leonard in the Valley League and the folks down there declare he is better than most major league backstops. He looks like a cinch to act as first-string catcher for the Oaks this season. Chet is married now and has a cute three-year-old boy who is already a big favorite with the players and cash customers at the hotel.

Harry Krause Admits He Has

Out-Couced Mr. Cone Himself

Harry Krause admits he has out-couced Cone and requests the populace to stick around and watch his smoke. Harry had a wonderful season in 1922 and promises to show some more of his old Philadelphia form this semester.

And at the conclusion of the day's practice as the youngsters came perspiring from the field of battle we asked Manager Ivan: "Did you have to tell any of 'em yet?"

"Well, not yet," replied Ivan.

Ivan admitted he hadn't, which establishes a world's record. There never yet was a story from a training camp that did not inform the customers that the manager had a terrible time restraining the young ball players from putting everything they had behind the ball.

The rookies have all been playing winter ball and are ready to do the rest of the week and those who cannot make the grade will be sent home next Sunday to make room for the veterans who will report Monday.

It is too early to make any predictions, but if you should ask Del or Ivan for an expression of opinion on the outlook they will answer in unison: "Krause, Kremer, Arlet and Malls." The Oaks have a small squad this year, but four of a kind always beat a full house.

Angels, Tigers Can't Work Out Unless Signed

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20.—Players who have not signed their 1923 contracts with the Los Angeles and Vernon clubs of the Pacific Coast Baseball league, will not be permitted to work out with the other players, according to the managers of both clubs.

Many clubs permit dissatisfied players to work out with the others, believing the club officials and owners would come to terms in a week or so after the start of the spring practice.

Players will be welcome as soon as they sign the "dotted line," the managers said.

E. E. (Deacon) Van Buren, formerly Pacific Coast league player, manager of the Vernon rookies, while Manager William Eslick is looking after the battermen.

Los Angeles players in training camp at Elsinore, Calif., are all semi-professionals. Manager Wade Kilfer is holding two work-outs daily. He will begin thinning the rookie ranks next Monday when the pitchers and catchers of the club are to arrive.

Molla Mallory to Face French Star

Blurred Mallory, American woman lawn tennis champion, left today for Monte Carlo, where she intends playing in the tennis tournament beginning February 21.

Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the French star, is also entered. Mrs. Mallory appeared to have recovered from the shaking up of her recent stormy cross of the Atlantic from New York.

Opening Day Scenes at the Oaks Training Camp

The photographers staged a field day at the Myrtle Dale training camps of the Oaks yesterday when the young athletes held their first workout of the 1923 season. The upper picture shows the boys draped around one of Mr. Buick's gas chariots. Superintendent DEL HOWARD is sitting on the bumper. From left to right the players are: BERGER, MADERAS, ELEY (in rear); READ, WELLS, MURCHIO, Manager IVAN HOWARD, KRAUSE, McCLUNG and WRIGHT. Below are some of the rookies just varin' to go. READ, BERGER, MURCHIO, WRIGHT and McCLUNG.

"Spider" Baum Makes Young Seals Step Lively

BOYES HOT SPRINGS, Feb. 20.—Boyes Hot Springs, until a couple of dozen ball players and would-be ball players packed their grips into Rudy Litchenberg's Hotel here yesterday about noon, the Valley of the Moon was one of the quietest spots in Sonoma county. But these bustling athletes who are the advance guard of the Pacific Coast League here for the 1923 pennant chase in the Pacific Coast League have stirred things up and the whole valley is talking baseball. Willie Kamm, the $100,000 ball player who worked out with the Seals last spring in this same place, is among the flock, but he will be for only a few days as he leaves soon to report to the Chicago White Sox. The people of the valley give him the ups and downs as though he was the president of the United States. But there is one fellow here who never heard of Kamm before. He is Paul Waner, a rookie from Oklahoma. When he was introduced to Kamm, he wanted to know how long Willie was in the valley.

Kamm had no chance to land a regular job. Charles (Spider) Baum led the advance guard of Seals and he certainly had a big party to look after. Charley found his hardest trouble controlling his flock when the dinner bell rang at the hotel. There was a mad rush and everybody was looking for his favorite place at the dinner table. Some of the boys will plant the hoots regularly under the table, and others will do it for a few days or a week, as many of the twenty bushers who came here are too green to last long.

Ray Flaskammer, a young infielder picked up from Independence, Kansas, by Nick Williams, is going to get alone inside and land a job for himself if he is going to be allowed his own way. The kid was out on the diamond yesterday afternoon and showed all kinds of class as an infielder. He is so bashful that he calls everybody by their first name.

Harry Stewart, a southpaw more than six feet tall, who hails from Piola, California, and Paul Waner, the fellow who never heard of Willie Kamm, but who thinks himself a great pitcher, were the center of attraction outside of Flaskammer. These lads are expected to develop into good pitchers some day. Waner is only 19 years of age and has pitched lots of independent ball around Oklahoma, while Stewart showed his wares in high school.

There are a whole flock of kids here, but Waner, Stewart and Flaskammer stood out as the most prominent. Spider Baum will have the kids out for another good workout today, and tomorrow he will turn the best of the youngsters over to Manager Jack Miller, who will take charge of the training camp. Baum will look after most of the kids as long as they last in camp.

Guisto Plans Hiawatha Week for Saint Tossers

The Saint Mary's varsity baseball team has a busy week before it. Tomorrow afternoon Coach Guisto's charges will try conclusions with the Ambrose Tailors, McNamara, former Saint Mary's Prep twirler and star in the TRIBUNE Mid-Winter League, will pitch for the Tailors. McVay is slated to work for the Saints. This young pitcher has won both starts this season and is a greatly improved pitcher over his last season's form.

Thursday the Saints play the California Council K. of C. team, winners of the Knights of Columbus Bay Cities League, and Saturday the Jeffersons play at the Oakland college.

Sunday Guisto will take his team to Hayward to play the Hayward Boosters. A banquet, at which the Saint Mary's players will be the guests of honor, will be given by the Boosters at noon on Sunday.

The Hayward team will be strengthened for the Saints. Maderas, Kelly Wales and other local baseball luminaries having signed up for Sunday's contest. Lindholm will most likely work for Saint Mary's.

SISLER HAS BAD COLD. ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 20.—George Sisler, local first sacker, who has been declared the greatest all-around player in the American league, is under a physician's care at his home suffering from a slight cold.

Eddie Collins Must Remain With Chicago

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—per's suggestion that the proposed American league monument to be erected in Washington, symbolize the national game of baseball and not the American league was adopted.

The magnates went on record as opposing the registering of hits and errors on the park score boards, claiming that it would be an aid to gamblers.

After the meeting of the league's board of directors, Harry Grabner and William "Kid" Gleason, respectively secretary and manager of the Chicago club, and Colonel Jacob Ruppert, part owner of the Yankees, and Manager Miller Huggins, discussed the Collins deal, but announced that they were unable to reach an agreement.

Collins himself denied reports that he was dissatisfied with the Chicago club.

The magnates did not discuss seriously the proposed organization of the Continental league. Ban Johnson said the league was "the joke of the season and against the rules of organized baseball."

Coppers, Rails, Sterling Continue to Gain; Armour Is Weak

Business in France

By H. S. SCOTT

Starting exchange mounted to an average of 4.71% for the week. This represents an average of 4.71% for the week. The highest rate recorded since the abandonment of the "pegged" rate of 4.75 in March, 1919. The normal rate is 4.75. The pound got up to 4.71.

Dutch Guilders got up to within a few points of par at 36.6. The mark fell back 34 points to 20.01. French francs advanced 4 points to 16.0.

The Chicago Stock Exchange today Armour preferred stock opened at a drop of $1 a share and this was followed by a further decline of $1.57, below yesterday's close. The decline was described as a "heavy" one, and was attributed to a heavy operating loss last year.

Later the market price for Armour preferred was as low as $1. There was a subsequent rally, though, and shortly after 1 p. m. the ruling quotation was $1.54.

Rails reached the highest average since November 9 and coppers sold higher than they have since October 11. The street today was with such important news displaying buoyancy, it was hard to work up bearish sentiment regarding the position of the general market.

New Haven led the rally, jumping 1 1/2 points. Monday's loss of 1 1/2 in response to the decision of the supreme court giving New England roads a better percentage of income from through traffic.

The early demand was also effective in the oil and copper. Butte & Superior led the rally in metal stocks, with a gain of one point. There were a few weak spots, notably Du Pont and Royal Dutch, off 1 and 1 1/2 respectively.

French buying power also made its appearance in the motor, motor accessories, steel and tobacco shares. General Motors advanced 3 1/2 points and Bosch Magneto 1 1/2 to a new high level.

Continuation of heavy profit taking in the industrial group resulted in a switch to professional speculative interest in the oil and copper. The latter were bought heavily in expectation that the January statements soon to be published would show unusually favorable earnings.

Both low priced and dividend paying issues moved higher, the leaders being in the iron and steel group. Copper and motor accessories stocks generally maintained their higher levels in the industrial division. Most of the others were inclined to yield under pressure.

United Fruit, which jumped 5 1/2 points, was one of the leaders. Phillips Petroleum, Iron Products, American Brake Shoe, Delaware and Hudson and American Tobacco A and B all of a point or more, were also notably heavy. Cash money advanced 4 1/2 points. Sales approximated 1,000,000 shares.

A moderate amount of liquidation in several of the issues including Standard Oil stocks that had shown pronounced strength during the past few days took place in the New York curb market today. The changes, however, did not indicate weakness in any direction and where declines occurred the low levels brought in buying on a large scale.

Petroleum Oil and Gas which had made violent advances in the past two days reacted after a firm opening but lost from this stock was offset by a gain of strength in Vacuum Oil which made a new high with a further advance of over one point. Magnolia Oil reacted 2 points but recovered its losses. Standard Oil of Kentucky made a gain of nearly one point and was followed by a reaction in the last half of the day.

Independent oil stock were generally firm. Mountain Producers made a new high, closing 20, but reacted from this high level. Penna. sold at a new high, buying being based on the recent advances in Penna. Crude. Big intian was in continued demand. Seaboard Oil and Gas reacted slightly.

Mining stocks continued active. Reports of development work caused increased buying in Goldfield, Florence, Trading in Butte and Western Mining, holding copper properties in Montana, will start tomorrow.

Motor issues were generally strong. Motor issues were generally strong. Motor issues were generally strong. Motor issues were generally strong. Motor issues were generally strong.

Every business house will be closed, the street will be decorated and residents of the district will gather at Key Route park, Fortieth street and Piedmont avenue, Thursday morning when the Piedmont Avenue Merchants' Association will unfurl an American flag and dedicate a new flag pole to the community.

An elaborate program has been arranged by M. D. McLeod, president of the association, band music, community singing and addresses by Clinton Dodge and Rev. Charles Kloss will feature this program, which is scheduled to start at 10:30 a. m., according to McLeod.

Boy Scouts of the Oakland and Piedmont councils will take part in the celebration and will have charge of the flag raising, McLeod said. Members of the Argonne post of the American Legion will attend the ceremony in a body, according to Ralph Smith, commander of the post.

ATTEMPT MADE TO KIDNAP GIRL

That an attempt was made on February 5 to abduct Anna Vincent, an 18-year-old girl, who lives with her mother at 7419 Lockwood avenue, was the information supplied yesterday to the Oakland police department, by the girl's mother, Mrs. C. W. Vincent.

According to Mrs. Vincent, her daughter was on her way home when a man ran from a vacant lot, clutched the girl by the throat and tried to drag her into an automobile that was parked near the curb almost in front of the girl's home. Her screams for help were heard by her mother. When the kidnapper saw Mrs. Vincent coming to her daughter's aid, he made off in his automobile.

Sherman, Clay & Co.,
VICTROLA

Washington fought and Washington sacrificed that we might know a free America. It is a long journey from cheerless Valley Forge to the lights, the laughter, the dancing feet of a Washington's Birthday party today. Why not mingle a few good patriotic Victor records with the one-steps of the Victrola party that you are planning in Washington's name?

Fire Department May Be Taken Out of City Hall

Seeking a means to end the overcrowded situation at the city hall and to modernize fire-fighting facilities downtown, the city officials are now considering the advisability of taking fire headquarters from the city hall and establishing a big downtown headquarters for the fire department alone.

Every big city has it that way," says Chief Sam Short, "and sooner or later Oakland must come to it."

The fire headquarters at the city hall occupy the whole north-west ground floor, the inside garage and a mezzanine over the engine stairs where the men sleep. The southwest end of the second floor is also used by the chief and his assistants. The fire department, it is estimated, uses more space than any other department, except the police and jail.

City officials have agreed that the city treasurer's office must be moved downstairs, or at least the tax-collection part of it. For this reason the Associated Charities has moved out, giving a ground-floor office for the tax collector. The auditor, however, also seeks a lower floor than the tenth, and other offices plead expansion of business as a reason for better quarters.

YOUNG FAVORS
LONGER TERMS

That the tenure of office in the state legislature is too brief to secure the best efficiency and that "very little money" changes hands in the lobby of the California legislature, were some things told the members of the Soroptimist Club at San Francisco yesterday by Lieutenant-Governor C. C. Young.

The women present asked the speaker several questions regarding the budget, thinking that they oppose extreme eliminations.

Miss Eva Robertson, manufacturer, asked: "Do you feel that it is consistent to invest $400,000 in advertising California to the world, and then to curtail our program of building good roads that will enable visitors to see the state?"

To all questions, Young replied: "As business women you realize that, while economy is necessary, it is foolish to cut down the expenditures which will bring you more business and profits."

Eye Strain Cause
Of School Failures

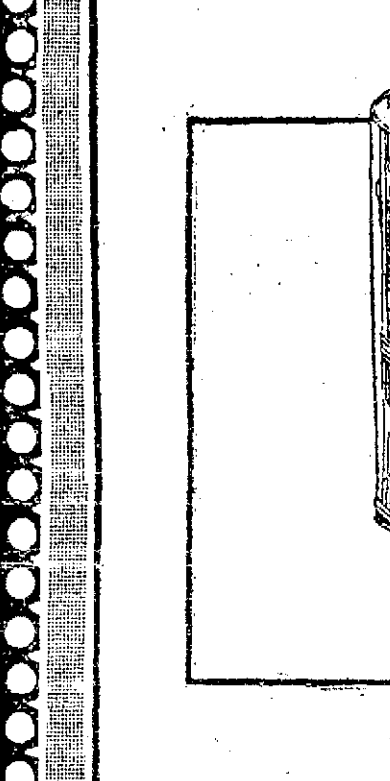

Unsuspected eye strain may be the cause of many a failure in school and business, according to Dr. Harry L. Fuog, dean of the Los Angeles School of Optometry, who last night addressed members of the Alameda County Optometric Association in Key Route Inn.

In the opening lecture of the series under the auspices of the California League for the Conservation of Vision, Northern Unit, Dr. Fuog declared that waste of nerve energy due to the excessive demands of defective eyes often produces such mental inefficiency that work or study is impossible.

Dr. Fuog is scheduled for a second lecture at the Key Route Inn tonight.

Luscious Breakfast Fruit
— Why Many Prefer It

The fresh, appetizing flavor of healthful grapefruit starts the day with snap and vigor.

Many consider it the ideal breakfast fruit because of its deliciousness and its beneficial salts and acids and abundant vitamins which tone up the entire system.

Wonderfully convenient—simply halve, then salt or sugar to taste. For finest flavor, prepare just before serving.

There are many other ways to use grapefruit, too. You'll be interested in the grapefruit demonstrations being made at the following stores.

ON BERKELEY'S
HUGE STADIUM

Plans for Big Main Concrete Superstructure Are Now Being Drawn.

BERKELEY, Feb. 20.—As the second step toward rushing the 1,000,000 memorial stadium of the University of California to completion before the date scheduled for the "big game" with Stanford in November, plans and specifications for the main concrete superstructure to rise from Strawberry canyon are now being prepared. Bids will probably be asked for early in March.

The superstructure is estimated to involve an expenditure of $415,000. The present contract for excavations, embankments and structural concrete elements totals $335,000. On account of the vast amount of preparatory work yet to be completed hydraulic operations in washing away a portion of Charter Hill is not expected to be started within a week or ten days.
